ROOSEVELT ASKS NATIONAL SERVICE MEASURE IN MESSAGE TO CONGRESS

SOVIET TROOPS DRIVE NEARER TO RUMANIA

8,000 Germans Wiped Out in Growing Battle in Dnieper Bend.

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, Jan. 11—Russian [illegible], steadily bringing war nearer to Rumania, drove toward the vital Odessa-Warsaw railway today and advance scouts felt out the eastern bank of the southern Bug river after capturing a long stretch of land southeast of Zhmerinka, junction on that rail line.

The second Ukraine army of Gen. Ivan S. Konev fought within 15 miles of the Dnieper bend rail town of Smela, after wiping out 8,000 Nazis north of Kirovograd.

(The German high command declared the Soviets had launched a new attack north of Kerch in the Crimea. There was no Soviet confirmation. Berlin also said fighting raged yesterday for Sarny, rail city 35 miles within old Poland.)

The first Ukraine army hourly increased the threat of severing the Odessa-Warsaw railway, which would throw the Germans back upon Rumania for supplies and put the biggest burden yet upon that satellite nation.

The danger to the Germans in the Smela gap also mounted steadily.

Only Few Escape Trap

The annihilated German formations were remnants of three tanks divisions, one infantry division and a motorized division—totaling perhaps 50,000 men. Only a few members of these units were said to have escaped the trap.

Gen. Nikolai Vatutin's first Ukraine army, battling on Konev's right, slashed two branch lines feeding the Odessa-Warsaw railway and captured Bereznoe and Ludvipol, 22 and 37 miles respectively southeast of Sarny (35 miles inside old Poland).

A Russian communique said more than 12,000 Germans were slain yesterday, 8,000 by Konev's forces and 4,000 by Vatutin's veterans. Advance units of the Red army were reported five miles east of Sarny yesterday.

(Berlin dispatches to Stockholm newspapers said the Germans had evacuated Sarny and that Vatutin's army is threatening to encircle Rovno, another rail junction 50 miles southwest.)

Drive for Junction

Vatutin's left wing, operating about 70 miles west of Konev's army, captured Voronovitsa and [illegible] in a drive for Vinnitsa on the Warsaw-Odessa railway. A junction of Konev's and Vatutin's forces would isolate thousands of Germans already out[illegible] in the Smela-Kanev sector of the Dnieper bend.

Capture of Voronvitsa put the Russians within seven miles of the Bug river, and 21 miles from the Odessa-Warsaw railway.

Berlin broadcasts said a Russian attempt to land troops on the Black sea coast at Ochakov, between Odessa and the Dnieper mouth had been repulsed. [illegible] made no mention of this.

[illegible] guerrilla forces were [illegible] lending invaluable aid [illegible] Red army forces. They [illegible] with Vatutin into [illegible] and were active on [illegible] sea coast near Odessa, [illegible] were wrecking German [illegible] facilities.

[illegible] armies captured 116 [illegible] villages yesterday, the [illegible] said.

Count Ciano Executed by Fascist Firing Squad

Four Others Convicted With Mussolini's Son-in-Law Also Reported Shot.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Jan. 11—Count Galeazzo Ciano was shot to death today, the German agency DNB announced, after his conviction on charges brought against him for voting to oust his father-in-law, Benito Mussolini, as Italian dictator.

DNB said that four other men convicted with Ciano also were executed. These were listed as Marshal Emilio De Bono, Giovanni Marinelli, Carlo Pareschi and Luciano Gottardi. They were among 19 former members of the Fascist grand council who were convicted yesterday on treason charges, the Germans announced.

The German report was datelined Verona, in northern Italy, where DNB said the trial took place.

Eighteen members of the Fascist grand council were convicted because they voted to oust Mussolini last July 25. The only ones in custody were the count, Marshal Emilio De Bono, former commander of the expedition to Ethiopia, Giovanni Marinelli, former head of the Fascist militia, Carlo Pareschi, former minister of agriculture, and Luciano Gottardi. The others were tried and sentenced in absentia.

Frontier reports continued contradictory.

One report asserted Pope Pius XII asked clemency for the condemned men.

The Fascist press and radio did not mention either the trials or the sentences. The only definite report received here was a German DNB dispatch dated Milan.

Corriere Del Ticino of Lugano said it had been rumored Mussolini was supposed to attend the trial and accuse Ciano and De Bono.

It was learned definitely, however, Mussolini was unable to leave his villa on Lake Garda where his health is steadily declining.

5TH ARMY HITS NEAR CASSINO

Allies Drive Close to Town; Bombers Hammer Sofia in Bulgaria.

By The Associated Press

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, ALGIERS, Jan. 11—A Fifth army pincers closed in on the German bastion of Cassino, 70 miles from Rome, today, with one arm reaching the outskirts of Cervaro, fortified village four miles to the southeast, headquarters announced.

Air, land and sea activity flared all over the Italian and Balkan fronts, as night bombers returned to Sofia to pound the Bulgarian capital in a swift followup yesterday's daylight raid. Britsih destroyers sank three German schooners and damaged four others trying to run the blockade to Civitanova, Ancona and San Benedetto.

American troops advancing up the road to Rome threatened the German mountain defense of Mt. Rocchio, less than three miles from Cassino, while British troops completed capture of Mount Pedro, five miles southeast of Cassino, and continued to forge ahead.

Take Mountain

As the tentacles of the allied offensive stretched out to take Cervaro, American troops captured Mount Di Piperia, 1500 yards from the village and then pushed down toward the heavily-defended town itself.

American infantry established a foothold on the mountain in the morning against stiff resistance, and then launched an afternoon attack which met no opposition as the Germans had withdrawn.

Only patrol activity marked the Eighth army front.

There was no sign of slackening in the Allied Fifth army advance, which started a week ago and is progressing steadily. However, there was no evidence of weakness in the German defense nor any indication the allies will be able to make a break-through for a big gain.

P.-T. A. COUNCIL TO HEAR PSYCHOLOGIST

State Speaker on Program of Thursday Meeting.

P. O. Wagner, psychologist with the state department of education, will be a guest speaker at a meeting of the Parent-Teacher council Thursday night at 7:45 o'clock in the home science room of Harding High school. Members of the association are invited to attend the meeting. Completing the program will be music by the "Pep" band directed by Homer E. Huffman, instructor of instrumental music in the public schools.

Mr. Wagner, in addition to his work with the state department, is chairman of the committee on the exceptional child of the Ohio Congress of Parents and Teachers. He was in the public school system and teacher, principal and superintendent, for 13 years, and for seven years was a member of the state bureau of juvenile research, working with delinquents for that period. For the last seven years he has served in his present position with the state department of education.

Mr. Wagner will discuss the possible correction and prevention of juvenile delinquency from a psychological viewpoint.

U. S. BOMBERS HIT POINTS IN GERMANY

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Jan. 11—The Berlin radio said "strong units of U. S. four-engined bombers" attacked "places in middle Germany" at noon today. U. S. government monitors heard the broadcast.

* * *

LONDON, Jan. 11—Mosquito bombers, returning to the assault upon Germany after a one-night lull in the allied aerial offensive, stabbed at Berlin last night and also bombed targets in the western reich, the air ministry announced today.

The raid—the ninth night foray by the speedy plywood Mosquitos since the first of the year—was executed without loss, the announcement said. Save for Berlin the targets were not specified.

New Administration Outlines Program for City During '44

Garbage Collection Deficit and Traffic Bureau Approval Get Attention at Council Meeting; Appropriations Made.

The municipal administration, setting up its financial program for the year at the first regular 1944 council meeting last night, gave some hint of the problems slated for early attention. These problems included:

City garbage and rubbish collection department—Mayor H. L. Dowler told council this department operated about $9,000 in the red for 1943 and that definite steps are planned to end its losses.

Traffic bureau—Council approved mayor's tentative plans to shift an assistant clerk from municipal court to police department to operate the bureau; mayor said of some 5,000 traffic tickets issued last year, only 500 paid fines and that this situation must cease.

Sewage treatment works—Mayor, in response to questions, said the plant's sad need of improvements will get early attention; survey of needs already being prepared.

Catch basins—Cleaning out of storm water sewage catch basins to be started as soon as weather permits.

Water rates—Mayor informed council city's domestic water rate contract with Marion Water Co. expires in March and suggested proper committee street preliminary study at once.

Parks—Additional funds made available for park use; approximately $4,100 tentatively slated for work in parks this year.

All these developments came out in the preliminary session of councilmen in the mayor's office, preceding the regular meeting. It was the first time that Mayor Dowler indicated publicly some of the plans he has in mind, and all his suggestions won unanimous support from councilmen. He added that Safety-Service Director John

REDS TO KEEP POLISH AREA

Considers Territory Taken in 1939 Rightfully Russian Land.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Jan. 11 — A clear warning that the Russians will not yield the Ukrainian and White Russian territories incorporated into the Soviet Union in 1939 came today from the Soviet government, which at the same time reaffirmed its desire for a strong, independent Poland to be rebuilt with areas wrested from Germany, assuring her an outlet to the Baltic sea.

In an official declaration broadcast by the Moscow radio, the Russians offered the "Curzon line" of 1919 as possible basis for a new Russian-Polish border, a line leaving the U.S.S.R. all but 3,800 square miles of Polish territory they occupied under the 1939 Soviet-German partition of Poland.

Strive for Friendship

The Soviet declaration, asserting Russia was striving "towards the establishment of friendship between the Soviet and Poland on the basis of solid, good-neighborly relations and mutual respect," suggested Poland could join the Soviet Union and Czecho-Slovakia in a bulwark against the Germans by becoming a party to the recently-signed Soviet-Czech mutual assistance pact.

The broadcast, used strong language in referring to the Polish government-in-exile, asserting the "emigre Polish government, cut off from its people, has shown itself incapable of establishing friendly relations with the Soviet Union."

Poles in London who have insisted on restoration of all of prewar Poland declined immediate comment.

The Moscow broadcast declared "the Soviet constitution established the Soviet-Polish border in

REPUBLICANS PICK CONVENTION CITY

BULLETIN

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Jan. 11—The Republicans decided today to nominate their presidential and vice presidential candidates at a convention in Chicago beginning June 26.

The party's national committee also adopted a resolution urging enactment of federal and state laws to facilitate absentee voting by members of the armed forces.

* * *

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Jan. 11—The Republican national committee moved today toward indorsement of a policy of cooperation between the states and the federal government to facilitate absentee voting by members of the armed forces in the November presidential election.

The committee's struggle with what promises to become 1944's No. 1 political problem overshadowed the purpose of its meeting here—to fix the time and place for the party's national convention.

There appeared no doubt that Chicago's meager bid of $75,000 for the convention would be accepted and the convening time set for June 25 or thereabouts.

The service vote question occupied the principal attention of the party organization members who hope to elect a president—any good Republican—in November, but are worried about Democratic charges that they don't want soldiers, sailors, Marines, WACS, WAVES and others to vote.

Democrats in congress, notably Senator Guffey (D-Pa), have impugned Republican motives on this score and the GOP national committee named a sub-committee headed by Russell Sprague of New York to draft a resolution putting the party on record on this question.

Sprague wheeled his committee, which included Mrs. Katherine K. Brown of Ohio, into action last night to draft a resolution.

Although the text of the proposal was withheld temporarily, members said it called for state legislatures in cooperation with congress to make absentee ballots available to service personnel in time so they can vote in November.

CROONER IS PAPA

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Jan. 11—Crooner Frank Sinatra was a proud papa for the second time today. An eight-pound, 13-ounce baby boy was born to his wife, Nancy, yesterday at Margaret Hague hospital, Jersey City. Sinatra, now in Hollywood, said the boy probably would be named Frank Jr. The couple's first child, Nancy, is three and a half years old.

FALL OF TOKYO HALSEY'S GOAL

Admiral Declares U. S. Must Not Stop Until Japanese Capital Falls.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11—Admiral William F. Halsey Jr., reporting the Japanese fleet is seriously crippled, declared today "we will keep on pressing and hitting him continuously," until Tokyo is occupied.

The 61-year-old commander of naval forces in the south Pacific urged that the American people refuse to accept any peace until troops reach Tokyo.

Halsey told a press conference that "there is only one definite place that has got to be taken and that is Tokyo. Don't let anyone stop us until we get it either."

He said the forces in the Pacific in continuing to pound the Japanese are relying upon keeping the enemy guessing.

"He'll get set in one place and we'll hit him in another," he said.

Asked about the apparent reluctance of the Japanese fleet to fight, he replied:

"Either they are saving their force until we approach the shore of the Japanese empire or think they can wear us down by attrition tactics and we'll get tired and make a negotiated peace suitable to them, which God knows I hope no one will permit."

U. S. Has Superiority

Halsey said American forces have "definite superiority in the air, on the sea, and on the land wherever we are."

Asked whether the Japanese fleet could now be considered to be badly crippled, he replied: "I would say rather than badly, seriously."

But, he continued, the enemy still can muster a fleet large enough to put up a serious battle.

He noted that the major Japanese naval base at Truk in the south Pacific, is "very strongly defended by air, fortifications and mines" and that the Japanese undoubtedly have good repair facilities there.

Asked if he considered it necessary to capture Truk, he replied the only definite place which must be taken in Tokyo.

Concerning Japanese hints about a major offensive in the Pacific in 1944, the admiral said: "There is no bigger liar in history than the Japanese. If you read their

City Fireman Leaves for Duty in Navy

James Bradshaw, a member of Marion Fire department, left yesterday to report for duty with the Navy. He was accepted Jan. 2 after passing his physical examination in Columbus. Second man from the department to enter the armed forces, he was preceded by Bob McCombs, who is now a fire fighter with the Seabees.

Mr. Bradshaw is married and the father of three children. He lives at 243 North Seffner avenue. A member of the fire department for eight months, he worked at the Omar Baking Co. before entering the city fire department. He was on the staff at the Central fire station.

PRESIDENT SENDS FIVE POINT PLAN FOR LEGISLATION

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11—A five points legislative program, headed by enactment of a national service law, was recommended to congress today by President Roosevelt.

He proposed a national service act for the duration to "prevent strikes" and, with some exceptions, to "make available for war production or for any other essential services every able-bodied adult in this nation."

These were his other four points:

1. "A realistic tax law."
2. Continuation of the law permitting renegotiation of war contracts.
3. A "cost of food law."
4. Reenactment of the economic stabilization act which expires next June 30.

Deals with Domestic Problems

In his annual message to congress, which he was prevented by the grippe from delivering in person, Mr. Roosevelt dwelt largely on domestic problems, but he spoke also of the war and its progress.

His legislative program was proposed "in order to concentrate all our energies and resources on winning the war and to maintain a fair and stable economy at home."

His five measures, the Chief Executive said, "form a just and equitable whole."

The President said he was convinced that a national service act was necessary.

"Although I am convinced," he said, "that we and our allies can win without such a measure, I am certain that nothing less than total mobilization of manpower and capital resources will guarantee an earlier victory."

Supporting his arguments for a national service act, he said millions of Americans "are not in this war at all" and that the act would be a means by which every man and woman could make the fullest possible contribution to victory.

Mr. Roosevelt described "a realistic tax law," the first point on his legislative list, as one which would tax all unreasonable profits, both individual and corporate, and reduce the ultimate cost of the war.

The revenue bill now in congress, which would yield only about a fifth of what the administration had sought, does not start to meet this test, he said.

Backing up his request for continuation of contract renegotiation, the Chief Executive asserted it would prevent "exorbitant profits and assure fair prices to the government." He recalled that he had pleaded with congress for two years to take undue profits out of war.

On this third point, a cost of food law, he said it should enable the government to put a reasonable floor under farm prices and a ceiling on the prices that consumers pay. It should apply only to necessities, he declared, and public funds will be required to effectuate it. He figured the cost would be about one per cent of the present annual cost of war.

Unless the stabilization statute is renewed, he said, the country can expect "price chaos by summer." Stabilization cannot be accomplished by wishful thinking, he said, and positive action must be taken to maintain the integrity of the dollar.

Touches on Conferences

The President touched with relative brevity, at the outset of his message, on the war conferences which took place overseas in the final weeks of 1943. He hailed them as intended to prevent mistakes made at the conclusion of the last war.

"Of course, we made some commitments," he said. "We most certainly committed ourselves to very large and very specific military plans which require the use of all allied forces to bring about the defeat of our enemies at the earliest possible time.

"But there were no secret treaties or political or financial commitments.

"The one supreme objective for the future, which we discussed for each nation individually, and for all the United Nations, can be summed up in one word — security.

"And that means not only physical security which provides safety from attacks by aggressors. It means also economic security, social security, moral security — in a family of nations."

Mr. Roosevelt warned against over-confidence and complacency, asserting the way to fight and win the war is "all out" and not with half an eye on battlefronts and half an eye on personal, selfish, or political interests at home.

Politics in Background

He said he hoped congress would recognize that while 1944 is a political year, "national service is an issue which transcends politics."

He said he believed the American people would welcome a measure based on a just principle of "fair for one, fair for all."

Asking congress to look into means for implementing what he termed an economic second bill of rights, Mr. Roosevelt vigorously assailed "whining demands of selfish pressure groups who seek to feather their nests while young Americans are dying."

He spoke of the need for unity at home, pounding away on a theme he has used before — that there is only one front in the war.

"Each and every one of us," he declared, "has a solemn obligation under God to serve this nation in its most critical hour — to keep this nation great — to make this nation greater in a better world."

His second bill of rights, under which he said a new basis of security and prosperity could be established for all, including these points:

1. The right to a useful and remunerative job.
2. The right to earn enough to provide adequate food, clothing and recreation.
3. The right of every farmer to a return for his products which will provide a decent living for him and his family.
4. The right of every business man to be free from unfair competition and domination by monopolies.
5. The right of every family to a decent home.
6. The right to adequate medical care and an opportunity to achieve and enjoy good health.
7. The right to adequate protection from economic fears in old age, illness, accident and unemployment.
8. The right to a good education.

Way To Security

"All of these rights spell 'security,'" the President said. "And after this war is won we must be prepared to move forward in the implementation of these rights,

INCOME OF MINORS

A minor who receives income (a) from property belonging to him, or (b) from funds held in trust for him, or (c) from earnings which belong to him, must file an income and victory tax return, or a return must be filed in his behalf by his guardian or parent, if the total income for the year is $500 or more.

[illegible] one who has not yet reached full legal age. In some States both men and women come of age, or reach the age of majority, at the age of 21 years, while in other States men become of age at 21 and women at 18 years of age.

It is the law generally that during the minority [illegible] the earnings [illegible] but to the parent [illegible] under legal duty [illegible] have a legal right [illegible]. In the absence of evidence to the contrary, therefore, [illegible] for income tax purposes [illegible] parent has the legal [illegible] earnings of a minor [illegible] right, the parent must [illegible] such earnings in his [illegible]. This is especially [illegible] [illegible] a status as a [illegible] with respect to the [illegible] minor, for that fact [illegible] that the parent is under a duty to support the minor. In such circumstances the parent is entitled to take credit in his return for any wages earned by the child.

If, however, [illegible] the parent has [illegible] renounced his right [illegible] the child and has relinquished his control and authority over the child by conferring on the latter the right to his earnings [illegible] with the obligation [illegible], the minor must therefore pay the income on [illegible] own earnings. Such relinquishment [illegible] emancipation, may be [illegible] by voluntary agreement [illegible] parent and child, or implied from such acts and conduct as indicate consent. It may be absolute or conditional, complete or partial, as where the parent relinquishes the right to the minor's earnings but retains the right to [illegible] the social or moral conduct of the minor. In any case it must be proved, and the burden of proof is on the parent who asserts that he is not taxable on the minor's earnings. The laws regarding emancipation vary in different States, and the facts in each case will determine whether the earnings of a minor must be reported in the return of the minor or of his parent.

Loudonville, O., Pilot Home on Three Engines

By The Associated Press

DARWIN AREA, Jan. 11—Lt. R. D. Kemp of Loudonville, O., was one of two Liberator pilots who brought their big bombers home on three engines after a raid on Japanese-held Kendari on Celebes island, 750 miles northwest of Darwin, Australia.

The attacking force shot down six Zeros and probably four others. (The allied communique said one of the four-engined Liberators was lost.)

Kemp landed his Liberator gracefully with one tire flat. His plane shot down one Zero and was credited with one probable.

REDS DRIVE TO TRAP MILLION NAZIS. In view of the swift pace being maintained by the Russian steamroller, Allied observers predict that the Germans are planning a full retreat from Soviet territory. If this is true, a million Nazis face entrapment in the south (shaded area). One Russian army (A), protected by the Pripet Marshes, is moving deeply into Poland, while another column, having captured Berdichev, is moving south and west to close the trap. This force is coordinating its effort with the armies that have taken and swept past Kirovograd (C). The destination of still another force is Zhmerinka (B), the capture of which would leave the retreating Germans with only one haven: Rumania. (International)

VANDENBERG MOVES TO BLOCK TAX HIKE

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11—Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich), declaring there is "no justification" for doubling the present 1 per cent social security payroll tax, set out today to convince the senate that the current rate should be frozen for the rest of this year.

"This is one time when I know I'm dead right," said Vandenberg, who on two previous occasions helped block what otherwise would have been automatic increases.

Before the Christmas recess, congress enacted stop-gap legislation holding the rate at 1 per cent on both employer and employe through January and February. A year-long freeze was attached by the finance committee to the $2,275,600,000 tax increase bill, slated for senate consideration today, immediately after reading of the President's message.

Vandenberg noted that in 1939 congress laid down a rule as to what should constitute an adequate reserve in the social security fund. The reserve, congress stipulated, should be at least three times the highest anticipated drain on the fund in any one of five succeeding years.

"Now," Vandenberg declared at a press conference, "the reserve is 11 times, instead of three times, the lowest estimate of the social security board, and five times the highest estimate of the contemplated drain.

Former Scioto Plant Commander Promoted

Major Philip E. Gruber, former commanding officer of the Scioto Ordnance Plant, has been promoted to lieutenant colonel, according to word received by friends here.

During Major Gruber's assignment in command of Scioto it was converted from artillery fuze loading to manufacture of important incendiary aircraft ammunition.

Last November Major Gruber and his family went to Texarkana, Tex., where he took over manufacturing activities at the Lone Star Ordnance Plant, one of the country's large shell and bomb loading establishments. Gruber's promotion to lieutenant colonel came about two months after he was transferred to Texas.

BOTH PARTIES PUSH FOR ABSENTEE VOTE

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11—With both major parties apparently expecting the lion's share of the vote, congressional machinery was stepped up today to drive through a bill to make the absentee voting posible this fall.

Signs pointed to a compromise to give control to the states, with the Army and the Navy handling the job of distributing the ballots.

Tossed aside was an earlier plan to create a federal war ballot commission to distribute the ballots and count them upon their return. The senate passed a substitute which had the effect of urging the various states to handle the problem themselves, without assistance from the armed forces.

Two house committees, one of them unofficial called meetings today to discuss the different proposals. The elections committee, headed by Rep. Worley, Democrat of Texas, hoped to whip into shape an acceptable measure this week.

To spur Worley's group, representatives Bradley, Democrat of Pennsylvania, and Bender, Republican of Ohio, called a meeting of various veterans' and other organizations, to discuss soldier-vote legislation.

The two declared in a joint statement, It should be obvious to all of us that the soldiers are not going to be able to vote if the present haphazard absentee voting systems prevail, that is if there are 48 different and separate methods of polling our armed forces."

The army and the navy, they contended, can not handle the machinery for 48 different procedures, the "only answer to achieving a simple, uniform system" being the federal ballot.

TO FACE GRAND JURY ON BURGLARY CHARGE

Marion Youth in Series of Break-Ins Bound Over.

The 19-year-old youth arrested by city police Friday night following a recent wave of 17 burglaries, pleaded guilty to a charge of breaking in and entering inhabited dwellings at night when he appeared before Judge W. Dexter Hazen in municipal court yesterday.

He was bound over to the grand jury under $3,500 bond and was taken to the county jail. He was arraigned on a charge of entering the Chester Daly residence on Milburn avenue on the night of Dec. 23.

His 15 year-old brother was still at the county juvenile detention home this morning but Judge Oscar Gast expected him to be released to Lancaster authorities some time today. He will be returned to the Lancaster industrial school on a parole violation charge.

INSURANCE CASE IS ARGUED TODAY

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11—The questions whether insurance companies are subject to prosecution under the Sherman anti-trust statute or the national labor relations act were argued before the supreme court today.

Legislation is pending in congress to exempt insurance companies from the federal anti-trust act.

Thirty-five states have filed briefs with the high court asserting federal regulations would destroy "the sovereignty of the states" and would substitute a "chaotic condition for the present effective method of state regulation and supervision."

Whether insurance companies are subject to the Sherman act was involved in an appeal by the justice department from a decision by the federal district court at Atlanta dismissing anti-trust charges against 198 southeastern stock fire insurance companies.

Attorney General Biddle, government spokesman in this case, contended in his brief that the supreme court rulings "decide only that the states have power to regulate or tax the insurance business.

"The nation-wide scope and the tremendous magnitude of the insurance industry," he added, "also demonstrate that it falls within the limits of the federal commerce power."

Bishop To Preside At Exiled Ruler's Rites

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Jan. 11—Coadjutor Bishop Edward F. Hoban of the Cleveland diocese will officiate Thursday at funeral rites for Antanas Smetona, 60, exiled president of Lithuania, at St. John's Roman Catholic cathedral.

Smetona was suffocated Sunday when a fire damaged the three-family residence where he and his wife lived.

The body of Smetona will be placed in a mausoleum at Calvary cemetery.

Burial will take place later either in Arlington national cemetery or his native land.

DISPUTE ZONES—When the Russian [illegible] went rolling into Poland, it also stirred up considerable diplomatic and political dust in London and Washington, for leaders of the exiled Polish government protested and the Union of Polish Patriots in Moscow came back at them. Russia is expected to demand post-war possession of things that once were Russian and the shaded areas of the map are concerned in such current discussion as: retention of eastern Poland to the border that existed in 1939, retention of Latvia, Estonia and Lithuania; retention of Bessarabia and Bukovina. Finland, some think, will be treated sternly and the Russians will retake the frontier line acquired after the 1939 Finnish war.

Weddings

The marriage of Miss Roberta M. MacDonald of Toledo and Richard C. Baker of Marion took place Sunday afternoon with Rev. Howard L. Can that "younger look" be restored?

Now—in many cases, yes! For Science has made a revolutionary discovery. Doctors have found there is a "vitalizing" substance that is always necessary for a pretty young skin. Naturally as this substance decreases with age, skins start to dry and look older. But now the ENDOCREME laboratories have found how to bring you a counterpart of this substance . . . replacing the natural substance for your skin. It is called ACTIVOL* and brought to you only by Endocreme. Results of its use are remarkable! Skins which lacked this substance begin to look smoother, firmer, fresher again! Many skins take on new appearance of "bloom." This precious ingredient costs only 1 1/6c a day! So start to get its benefits! Ask at our Cosmetic Counter . . . today . . . for ENDOCREME!

Edison Rail Crew Foreman Given Gold Pass by Company

EDISON—John Germain, foreman of the Edison section crew, this week received from the N. Y. Central Railroad Co. a gold pass which is good on any train of the New York Central system at any time.

On April 1 he will have completed 52 years of employment with the company, all of which has been on the Edison, Martel and Caledonia section crews.

Mr. Germain started working for the railrad at Edison in 1892 at the age of 15.

For approximately 40 years he has been section foreman and he has held his present job as head of the Edison crew since 1905. With the elimination of the Cardington section a few years ago, his work has expanded to place him in charge of nine miles of main track on the Big Four route of the New York Central System.

Eligible to retire at the age of 65 years, Mr. Germain decided to continue on the job, he said, because he would be lost without something to do.

During the 52 years of his employment he has taken only two weeks' vacation. The New York Central System just recently began issuing the gold passes, Mr. Germain's being the one hundred and twenty-sixth.

• • •

• • •

Mrs. Inez Winget has been appointed postmaster at Edison and began her work the first of the year. Mrs. Winget who was formerly held the postion resigned in November, 1942, when she began work at Mt. Gilead with the ration board.

Mother, This Home-Mixed Cough Relief Is Wonderful

Saves Real Money. No Cooking. Quick Results.

To get the most surprising relief from coughs due to colds, you can easily prepare a medicine, right in your own kitchen. It's very easy—needs no cooking, and tastes so good that children take it willingly. But you'll say it beats them all for results.

First, make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup. Then get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist, and pour it into a pint bottle. Then add your syrup. This gives you a full pint of really splendid cough syrup—about four times as much for your money. It never spoils, and lasts a long time.

And for real, quick relief, it can't be beaten. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well known for prompt action in coughs and bronchial irritations. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

Mrs. Goldie Diehl New Head of W.S.C.S. Group

Mrs. Goldie Diehl was elected president of the W. S. C. S. of the Prospect Street Methodist church Thursday afternoon in the church parlors. Other officers elected are: Mrs. Harry Seiter vice president; Mrs. George J. Bechtle, recording secretary; Miss Freda Wanner, corresponding secretary; Miss Elsie Hecker, treasurer; Mrs. Harry Wilhelm, secretary of social relations and church activities; Mrs. Henry Maag, secretary of missionary education and service; Mrs. Carolyn Shambaugh, secretary of spiritual life; Mrs. Fred Haas secretary of supplies.

Mrs. Henry Maag was in charge of a service in which the members pledged their services to the church. Mrs. John Schott conducted devotions and the study hour, on the topic, "The Methodist Women and the American Indian," was in charge of Mrs. Carolyn Shambaugh. Mrs. Selma Ruth reported 38 Christmas boxes sent to men from the church who are in the armed forces and a number of letters were read from Japanese children in a relocation camp at Preston, Ariz., to whom the members had sent Christmas boxes. Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. William Risch, Mrs. Minnie Storner, Mrs. Rudolph Risch and Mrs. Sylvester Keyes.

SCREEN TESTS TO BE DROPPED

Ohio Draft Boards Notified of New Plan for Physical Examinations.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 11 — Ohio's 330 draft boards were notified Monday to start calling men for the new one-day pre-induction physical examinations next Monday and to discontinue screen tests Feb. 1.

Col. C. W. Goble, state selective service director, said the order would make Ohio's pre-induction procedure conform with the new national program whereby men passing their physicals will be subject to call for induction not less than 21 days later, unless they request immediate service.

Under Ohio's program, local boards will continue making blood tests in advance of induction examinations until Feb. 1 and also will call up men for pre-induction tests during the last half of the month, Goble explained. Screen tests will be continued for men with obvious physical defects, however.

Under the new set-up, induction candidates will be sent to present induction stations in Columbus, Cleveland, Toledo, Cincinnati, Huntington, W. Va., and Clarksburg, W. Va. Those stations probably will become only examining boards after Jan. 31, it was explained.

Men passing examinations will be returned to their homes for three weeks and they will be inducted at Ft. Hayes here, Ft. Thomas, Ky., or Ft. Benjamin Harrison, Ind. Most Ohioans probably will be inducted at the latter reception center, Goble asserted. Men who are not called within 90 days after examination will be given new tests.

Because the examining staff at the Columbus induction station operates only the first half of the month and in Toledo the last half, Goble said men from this area called for pre-induction examinations this month would be sent to other induction stations in Ohio and West Virginia.

Goble said that men appealing 1-A classifications must report for pre-induction examination as called even though no action has been taken on their appeal. Any appeal decision will be considered when made but lack of action can not delay physical examinations, he added.

The Stars Say—

For Wednesday, Jan. 12

A determined effort to put over exceptional or untried programs and projects by main force is noted in this day's astral configurations. A strong urge to forge ahead, regardless of accepted systems or regulation methods, is likely to prove an impediment, since reckless or ill-directed energies might beget explosive conduct or perhaps physical dangers. While speed and strenuous action may be necessary, yet studious and well-planned tactics may enlist the support of steadier and calmer influences. Results depend on safe and sane acts.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year in which some sudden and unusual opening for putting over major objectives of exceptional scope or singular character. While this opportunity should be grasped with determination, and due aggressiveness, yet the effort must be backed up by practical skill and well-organized tactics, as well as controlled and tempered conduct, probably in connection with a wiser head or less excitable influence. Certain dangers not only as to the success of projects but as to physical mishaps or accidents are not improbable. Serene, composed and regulated acts should sustain skill and unusual ingenuity.

A child born on this day will have much practical creative ability, with sufficient skill and ability to put over important plans if it will exercise proper restraint and not jump too fast and too far in excitement.

Point Values To Be Changed When OPA Token Plan Begins

The new ration token plan effective Feb. 27 will allow the housewife to buy about the same amount of rationed processed foods and meats-fats as she now buying, Office of Price Administration officials [illegible] said today.

Ration buying power will be kept on an even keel by adjusting point values very slightly at the time the token plan goes into effect. The result will be that the housewife's monthly allotment of about 60 points of ration stamps to each member of the family for buying meats and fats will get the same amount that she gets with her present approximate 64 points a month. Likewise, the 50 points she will receive monthly for processed foods purchases will buy an amount about equal to the 48 points she has had to spend.

Through lowering slightly the value of meats-fats stamps and adjusting upward point values of processed food, ration buying power will be kept stable. Thus there will be neither a loss in red stamp buying power nor gain in blue stamp buying power.

Under the present rationing program, a strip of ration stamps is worth 16 points on a weekly basis. When stamps are used in war ration Book 4 under the ration token plan, stamps will have a value of 10 points each regardless of the number printed upon them.

The present 16 points for meats and fats becoming valid at the beginning of each week, roughly total 64 points a month. Under the token plan 30 points (three stamps) will become valid at the beginning of each two-week period, a total of approximately 60 points each month.

For processed foods, 48 points become valid each month. Under the token plan 50 points will become valid the first of each month.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

A Talk on Credit

It is not an evidence of shiftlessness and a confession of limited means when you buy furniture, rugs or stoves on the extended-payment plan. That is—providing you make your purchases in the kind of store that extends long credit as a Service rather than a means to get higher prices than the merchandise is worth.

Capitalizing on a temporary shortage of cash in the home of a family that needs to buy furnishings is NOT a policy of Schaffner's—never has been, and never will be.

There are many reliable furniture stores in the country where they have built up big businesses by extending a long-credit service without adding to the price—and Schaffner's is one of that class of store.

The rule of "might as well get a high price, because they want credit" does not apply here. Shop around and prove it to yourself.

Congressmen Are Politicians

IN A national election year the fact that congressmen are politicians predetermines their political [illegible] of [illegible] [illegible] from party government.

But there is imperative [illegible] for the congress [illegible] the [illegible] need for something besides partisan behavior. Unless congressmen can strike a proper balance between political expediency and statesmanship in 1944, they [illegible] for the [illegible] as an independent [illegible] of government wisdom and initiative.

They already have hurt themselves by the ineptitude of their behavior during the first session — behavior which resulted in a program of legislation being left at loose ends when congress went home for the holidays. This was the congress which was expected to regain the legislative dignity and authority lost during the rubber stamp era of the New Deal. It is the congress which still hasn't been able to convince the people that it is able to come up to its own or the people's expectations.

The result to date is to raise widely the question of whether this congress may have suffered from the withdrawal of executive leadership. It has failed to supplant President Roosevelt's formerly too aggressive attitude toward the legislative with an aggressive attitude of its own. In its handling of domestic problems it has lacked determination and leadership. While some of the problems, such as subsidies, are extremely difficult, it has done no better with easy problems, such as settlement of mustering-out pay.

Whatever individual and collective excuses may be advanced for its failure to rise to the occasion, congress has fallen short. It will need to outdo itself from now on to recover the ground it has lost, not only in its handling of legislation but its standing in public opinion. If ever the American people need the testimony of good legislative performance to refute the eager claims that the nation's salvation lies in the continued growth of executive authority, it is in the year 1944.

The former practice of making congress the whipping boy for captious criticism of the government in general was discarded long ago by thoughtful citizens of the republic. They realized in time that they were playing directly into the hands of the natural enemies of the legislative process—the believers in government by executive authority. But that realization does not prevent them now from hoping that congress may find in itself the means of justifying their faith in its ability to exercise responsibility better than it was exercised during 1943.

Managed Economy Headache

A BUYING public which didn't complain when certain commodities were scarce in a free economy, because it believed everything possible would be done to overcome the scarcity, is touchy about scarcities under managed economy. It is easier to blame the government than [illegible] of private enterprise. The managed economy [illegible] the [illegible] accountability for every [illegible] which comes to public attention.

The headache of the moment is meat, with at least one spokesman for meat packers (George A. Casey, president of Independent Meat Packers association) contending that large quantities of meat may spoil unless there is a rationing moratorium on beef and pork. Other headaches have been the butter shortage, army stockpiles of rationed commodities for [illegible] needs and scattered reports of food [illegible] being wasted in handling. There is no type of information seized so quickly by the public as purported evidence of government mismanagement of the national food supply. The downfall of the managed economy theory preached so energetically before the war by [illegible] of unlimited government authority [illegible] occur in its most [illegible] the American people's [illegible] government handling of [illegible] during wartime.

So They Say—

The massive offensives [illegible] in the making will require every ounce of energy and fortitude that we and our Allies can summon on the fighting fronts and [illegible] the workshops at home.—President R[illegible]

The year 1944 must inevitably be a year of decision for the labor leaders of this nation. Theirs is the choice to decide whether the labor policies of the future are to be helpful to the nations or whether they are to drift uncontrolled.—Henry H. Heimann, officer National Association of Credit Men.

Education is not an automatic process, and if you let the process stop with graduation you will never know the excitement of real living—you have already begun to die.—President Everett Case of Colgate university.

The profit system is the best means to stimulate the individual to his greatest effort. But to take that system for granted and not labor for its constant improvement is to invite another bust such as we experienced at the end of the twinkling twenties.—Eric A. Johnston, president United States Chamber of Commerce.

I am sure in my heart that the Germans will be smashed, I believe in 1944.—WPB Vice President Charles E. Wilson.

News Behind the News

Drive To Change Senate Two-Thirds Majority Vote on Peace Treaties Believed Doomed.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11—A drive lately [illegible] for [illegible] of peace treaties by a simple [illegible] majority rather than two-thirds [illegible] in [illegible] New York Times [illegible], Jan. [illegible]. This publication date may have been more than a coincidence as [illegible] Gillette-Pepper [illegible] are [illegible] to be taken up by senate committees.

The drive is doomed. It cannot succeed primarily because it requires two-thirds of the senate and three-fourths of the states to [illegible] to let a majority [illegible] in foreign affairs. [illegible] the senate [illegible] minority [illegible]. This is probably what [illegible] clear the way for [illegible] Mr. Roosevelt.

May Delay Treaty

[illegible] may be done easily. [illegible] proof exists that a [illegible] be submitted to the [illegible], one senator, after [illegible] Mr. Roosevelt some weeks back, has been plainly hinting that the President will [illegible] for [illegible] through executive action. [illegible] might be done through [illegible] arrangement for indefinite [illegible] of enemy countries such as the conquered portions of Italy. Years would pass before anybody [illegible] treaty [illegible].

[illegible] against the two-thirds [illegible] strengthen Mr. Roosevelt [illegible] popularity for [illegible] such a maneuver if he truly has it in mind.

Aside from these pressure phases, a serious ethical question is raised as to whether longer and better peace treaties may come from half the senate or two-thirds. The agitators no doubt think that, as the Democratic convention dropped its two-thirds rule and kept the south from holding its presidential candidates [illegible], a so-called isolationist minority in this country should be similarly throttled. They feel like the majorities which are defeated by senate filibustering occasionally, outraged that what they consider to be the will of a majority should be defeated by a minority.

Majority Views Change

But what makes them think a majority is permanent? A popular majority was against this war, but is now gladly fighting it. A senate majority waved the bloody shirt after the Civil war. It made a peace, which all today will think as unjust and consequently unenduring. A popular pre-war majority believed the Versailles treaty unjust to Germany as wrought by French politicians, although it may now wonder if it was sufficiently harsh. Majorities change. Even the supreme court changes its mind—frequently recently. If a majority can adopt this peace, a new majority with a change of administration can kill it. Would the peace not be more lasting if its righteousness was not alone evident to a majority, but to an overwhelming number? Does it not need overwhelming popular approval more than a majority vote to endure? Should it not be contrived to get unity?

The difference between our democracy and those governments we are fighting is that our system protects minorities against majority enthusiasm on vital matters such as rights and foreign policy. I do not think the writers of the Constitution wanted to let cliques defeat national purposes, but wanted to rein in majorities against their own folly.

Lend-Lease Defended as Big Contribution to Our Interests as Well as Those of Allies.

By WALTER LIPPMANN

LEND-LEASE Administrator Edward R. Stettinius has done as much and perhaps more than any man in Washington to show how to set up a war agency and how to run it without bureaucratic feuds and without confusion.

An essential element of his success in administering lend-lease has been that he and his small but exceptionally competent staff have always known what they were doing and have not only been ready to tell but have insisted [illegible] telling congress what they were doing and why they were doing it.

Much will be said by historians about the contribution of lend-lease to the defense of the United States and to the Allied victory. A good deal should also be said about [illegible] manner and spirit of the Stettinius administration earned and [illegible] the confidence of congress.

We now have, besides the official reports and the testimony before the committees, a very readable and engaging book on lend-lease by Stettinius himself. It is [illegible] report to the nation, [illegible] when lend-lease [illegible], and it must [illegible] to discuss the problems of lend-lease [illegible] ahead of us.

When It Began

[illegible] authorized by [illegible] of 1941. At [illegible] stood alone [illegible]. The fall of [illegible] given Germany [illegible] of the con- [illegible] Africa and [illegible] line, of the [illegible] facing North and South America [illegible] of the ar- [illegible] and aircraft [illegible] Europe.

[illegible] China stood alone [illegible] the collapse and [illegible] China would have given [illegible] and well-nigh impregnable base on the mainland of Asia from which to expand her aggression in the Pacific.

At that same time the United States had a one-ocean, and not [illegible] navy, almost no air force [illegible] army, no well-defended [illegible] in Alaska, the Philippines, Guam or in South America, and the United States had for modern warfare virtually no war industry.

These were the conditions under which lend-lease aid to Britain and China was, in literal truth, an indispensable measure "to promote the defense of the United States."

No one will ever be able to say whether, without this pledge of support from congress, it would have been possible for Britain and China to hold on. But we can measure the importance of their holding on [illegible] that only [illegible] the [illegible] lend-lease [illegible] have [illegible] air force, an army, [illegible] industry adequate to play a decisive part in the war against our enemies.

The Alternative

If there are any who still ask themselves why could we not have let the Japanese conquer China and the oil and rubber lands of the south Pacific, and Australia—and why could we not let the Nazis conquer the British Isles and France and the Atlantic coast of Africa, and get control of the Portuguese and Spanish islands in the Atlantic—if there are any who still ask these question, let them consider what would be the position of the United States if it stood alone between the Japanese-German alliance in the two oceans.

These are the reasons why, being unarmed and altogether unprepared for war in 1941, we had to invent the device of lend-lease. Lend-lease was the means by which we saved ourselves from the worst consequences of our mistakes.

Measured by the results the cost of lend-lease has been a trifle. Between March 11, 1941, when lend-lease became law, and Nov. 30, 1943, the last date for which figures are available, the cost of lend-lease has been 13.5 per cent or less than one-seventh, of our war expenditures.

Shortened War

In fact, these figures do not convey the full truth. For if we had not had lend-lease and if we had lost our allies, or even if they had been so weakened that they could not take the offensive, the war would certainly have been longer than it is going to be and our expenditures, great as they are, would have had to be infinitely greater.

The details of the lend-lease operations and the settlement after the war ends have to be examined in this true perspective. If they are, the American people will never consent to having this great enterprise, which has served them so well in their most perilous hour, made the object of carping criticism and of a haggler's bargain.

Lend-lease was devised to defend the republic. They will wish the settlements to be made by men who seek above all to heal the wounds of war and to restore confidence, good will and tranquility to this suffering planet.

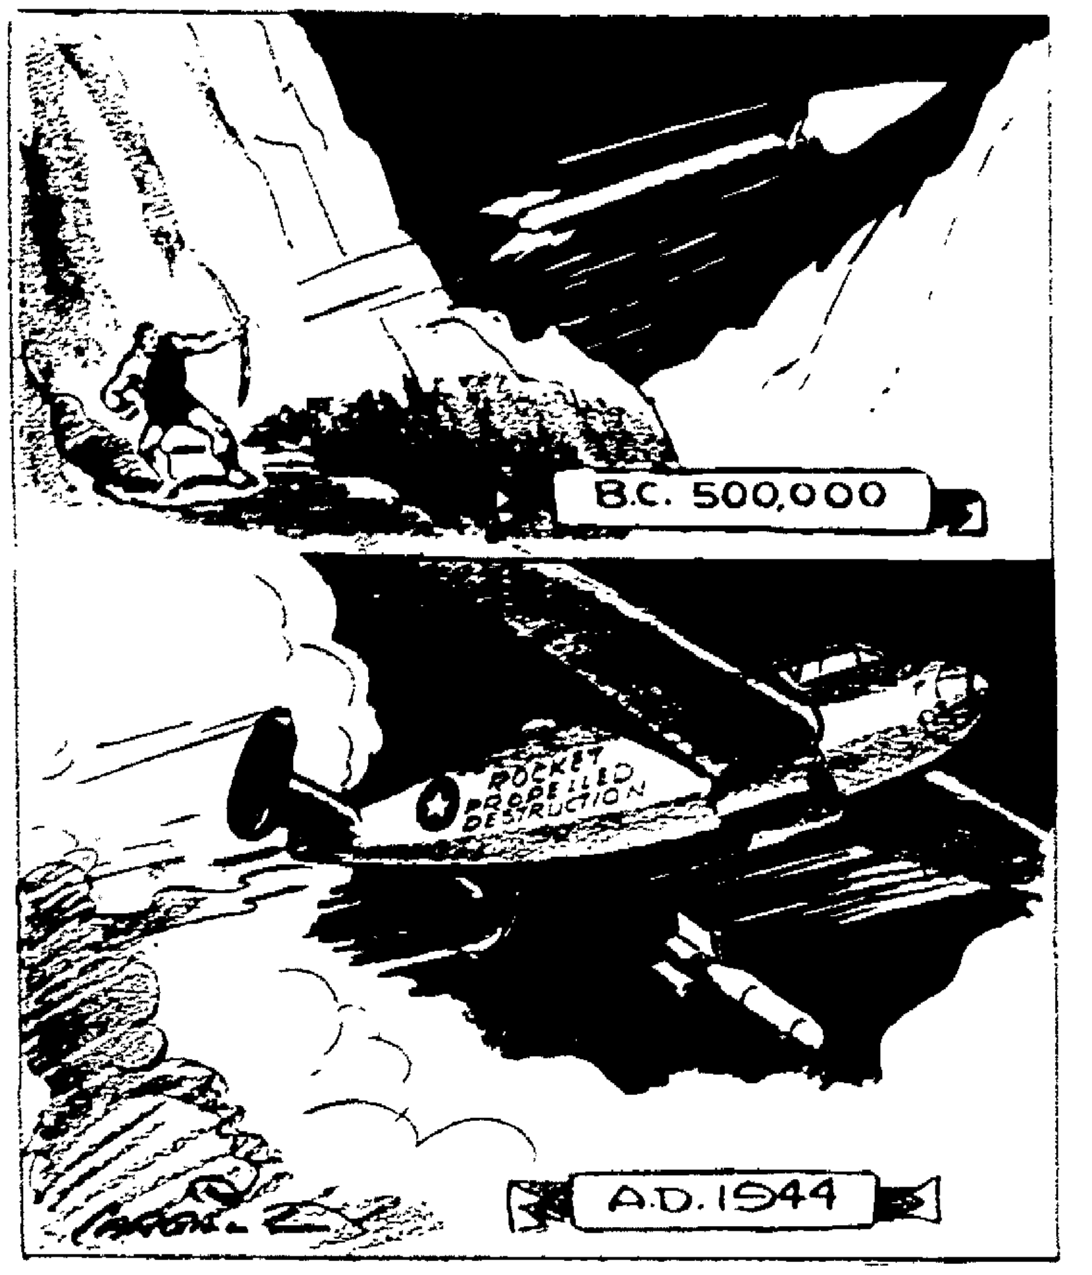
EVOLUTION MARCHES ON!



From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Thursday, Jan. 11, 1934.

A news dispatch from Los Angeles reported that Fay Webb Vallee would ask for temporary alimony of $7,400 a month and $50,000 attorney fees when she began suit for separate maintenance against Rudy Vallee, orchestra leader.

A Marion man was charged with stealing his own horse in a case unprecedented in the county's court records. Custody of the horse has been taken over by the humane society when the owner took it from the stable, resulting in the charge being filed by the society.

All Ohio authorities were on a manhunt for Neal Bowman, escaped terrorist, who had escaped from Lima state hospital on Christmas day. Latest reports led to a belief he had been in Galion earlier in the week.

E. O. Uncapher was appointed supervisor of Marion county CWA projects by John Abel, county relief director. Mr. Uncapher had just retired as city service director.

A son, Joseph Harruff Thomas, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Marvin C. Thomas of Kenmore avenue. The day also marked the third birthday anniversary of their son, Richard Lee Thomas.

Miss Nora Rill Waggy, 20, died at her home west of Marion on the Green Camp Pike.

Charles E. Mack, 46, originator of the "Two Black Crows", was fatally injured in an automobile accident near Mesa, Ariz.

Mayor Bolin's second economy proposal, merger of the city and county health boards, was voted down by the city health board.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Friday, Jan. 11, 1924.

O. C. Plummer, president of the Lima Automobile Dealers' association, in an address before the Marion Automobile Merchant's association, declared that "the automobile business is facing a better era and is gaining the confidence of the public."

The Marion county grand jury returned 21 indictments, two of them for murder.

Canby Temple of Pythian Sisters installed officers headed by Mrs. Murl Tonguett as excellent chief. Mrs. Mary Baumgartner was installed as noble grand of Wayside Rose Rebekah Lodge, I. O. O. F.

The Harding High school basketball team defeated Athens High school on the local floor, 31-18. Geissler made seven field goals for Marion, Rinnert, three, and Schoenlaub, three.

What'll We Use for Money?

A New Slant on Post-War Prospects.

POST-War prospects have been gone over so many times by so many experts the subject is thread-bare, but Frank E. Fehlman, newspaper advertising consultant in New York City, recently called attention to something most Americans are neglecting—the control of the post-war monetary standard.

In an interview, Mr. Fehlman expressed this opinion:

"The thing that bothers me more than anything else is 'What are we going to use for money when the war is over?' Will it be Mexican dollars, the pound, milreis, pesos, German marks or what. I don't know — neither does Churchill—although he has hopes of guessing what will be used as a monetary standard. Neither does Amos, nor Andy, nor Lafe Hutchinson back home. But it doesn't hurt to do a little guessing.

"Anyone who can predict what will be used for money and can tell you which country will sit in the center of the ring, with all other currencies tied to its unit of value—that's the guy who can make plenty of money now and for several years to come. The British empire has the longest record of any in this situation. Over the centuries it has always seen to it that dollars, marks, rubles, yens, pesos, milreis and other currencies were always quoted in relation to the pound. We had the honor for a few years, but when the British were told by the French in 1933 to pay up their short term loans—money that England owed France—the British paid up. Then they set a new value on the pound sterling and it didn't take our folks in Washington long to change the price of our dollar to conform to the English pound. We don't know very much about how to jockey ourselves into the center of the ring and tell our allies and others who is going to set the value of money. And until this little question is decided, you don't need to worry about unemployment, post-war planning nor surveys of how your town is going to beat the silent depression that lies ahead.

"You can quote me directly as saying that 1944 is going to be an eye-opener for millions of Americans. In spite of the hush-hush talk, a lot of them are going to find out that the only thing we are now fighting for is just this:

Who is going to fix the standard by which all money is measured. Once they catch on to the seriousness of the question, a lot of them are going to work harder, fight harder and when the Dutchmen and Jap scoundrels have been licked, a lot of them are going to stick out their necks and say—O. K. Write any peace contract you want, but be sure that the American republic, the United States of America, is the government that will determine the value of all monies used all over the world. If we cast the deciding vote as to what our dollar is worth, this republic will survive. If we don't—all right, you guess the answer."

Odd Bedfellows

By The Associated Press

WITH FIFTH ARMY, ITALY—Sergeant Charles Baker of Williamsport, Pa., was assigned to a forward observation party. He knew an infantry observation post was situated nearby, so when night came he decided to seek companionship. After struggling through the underbrush, he came upon a clearing and saw three inert forms on the ground.

Careful not to awaken the men, Baker rolled up in his blankets alongside the three. Came the dawn, Baker stirred, opened one eye and looked at his nearest "bedfellow." What he saw set him wide awake and reaching for his gun. There was no mistaking the German uniform.

Then Baker saw that the three German soldiers were dead.

Let's Do It Right

Instead of Kidding Veterans with Romances and Promises Why Not Give Them a Reward?

By DAMON RUNYON

ALL RIGHT, Mister Chairman, I have another resolution that I would like to have considered:

Whereas, it is apparent that congress, if it does anything at all for the discharged soldiers, will confine its liberality to something [illegible] as $300 mustering-out pay, and—

Whereas, that sum would be adequate for the purchase of civilian clothing and the [illegible] expenses incidental to the process of readjustment to civil life on the part of a man who has been long away from his home and has lost contact with conditions, therefore be it—

Resolved, that a plan for a national lottery be adopted and all profit derived therefrom by the government be devoted to a war veterans' fund to take care of any and all problems relating to the discharged soldiers, to the end that provision for them may be complete, adequate and without adding to the burden of the taxpayer. And be it also—

Resolved, that inasmuch as such profit has been estimated at as high as $10,000,000,000 a year it will be possible to continue from this fund the salary of each and every soldier for one year from the date of his discharge, with such additional payments to him as will also cover for the said year all the usual allowances to family and dependents that are made while he is in the service and the cost of his sustenance and clothing for a year as computed by this service.

IN OTHER WORDS, I want to see a gesture of real generosity toward service men made by the people of the United States, instead of just a little sop to keep them quiet [illegible] which is what is being planned now. They are being told that what they may get as mustering-out pay, say $300, will not [illegible] against any future demands for a bonus, but I think that is hogwash and the minute the war is over the veterans will be shunted aside as always and forgotten.

If they talk about a bonus then, the civilians who did not go to war, the politicians and the new generation that will come on soon will say, "Why, we gave you $300 and why should we give you any more?" It will be years before the veterans get what is coming to them, just as it was the last time.

The fact that everyone knows right now that the nation must eventually pay a bonus but that the politicians want to wiggle away from the problem with a temporary arrangement, is proof of their insincerity. It would be just as easy to make the bonus deal now in the form of pay continuance at a time when the money will really mean something to the soldiers, as it will be 20 years from now.

SINCE the usual plaint against rewarding our fighting men is the inroads on the public treasury, a national lottery would remove that beef and would turn to good use some of the billions of dollars that the public is throwing down the sink holes of race tracks and other gambling.

Everyone is yelling "Don't profit out of the war!"—but the operators of race tracks and other forms of gambling are lining their pockets very nicely through the war money and the public mania for gambling.

I have heard it said that a national lottery would be wrong on moral grounds. Yet the government participates in the racing [illegible] in various ways along with the states that have legalized race track gambling. The government even participates in other gambling dodges, to the extent of collecting taxes from gamblers on income.

I cannot see that there is any greater moral iniquity in a national lottery than there is in gambling in other forms. But I will be frank with you, dear reader. I do not expect to see my lottery plan put into effect, either for the benefit of the war veterans or for any other purpose. It is just a sort of pipe dream of mine.

The Boy

By Truman Twill

Consider the boy. He is going to school on the bus. He has two school books clamped under his arm. Beside him is another boy, his friend. They are talking, but not about school. They are talking about model airplanes.

The boy is wearing a stocking cap, which he has put on in a hurry. It is cocked up over one ear and will muss his hair when he pulls it off. But this will not worry the boy. It is a matter of concern only to his mother, like the gray, [illegible] overcast on his face, characteristic of the complexion of boys in mid-winter when dirt is deposited more rapidly than she can coax him to remove it. Some mornings the boy's face is clean, clear down to the good color underneath, and then you know the mother of the boy has given him some vigorous personal attention.

His eyes are bright and quick, and when he smiles they crinkle at the corners. This is a good-natured boy. His friend is good-natured, too. When they grin at each other you realize there is nothing finer than friendship between good-natured boys at an age when it is the only kind of friendship that matters.

The boy's shoes have not been shined for a long time, perhaps never. They show signs of having been immersed in water, and one of the laces has broken and been tied in a knot. They are scuffed and battered out of shape like shoes that have covered a lot of ground in a hurry.

His stockings are formless and bedraggled and hang interminately between his ankles and knees, at different levels. The boy's shins are barked and the calves of his legs are scratched and battered where they are visible between the tops of his stockings and the bottoms of his knickers, which hang lower on one leg than the other.

This is because the boy has no hips to [illegible] of and also because his belt does not pass through the belt loop on one side, which he was too busy to notice when his mother told him he could not wear the [illegible] he wore yesterday and he had to change belt in a hurry. But like his flannel shirt, which is red, it would not be noticed if he would button up his coat.

This, however, is impossible because the buttons are missing, probably the result of the same accident which makes the coat look as though it had been run over by a truck and twisted around the axle. It is exactly like the other boy's coat and vice versa, however, which shows that it is in fashion.

The backs of the boy's hands are grimy but the palms are clean. They and the crinkles of his smiles are the only really clean things about the boy, and it is hard to realize he will grow up and become devoted to cleanliness in order to attract the attention of girls. The boy is perfectly satisfied with himself the way he is, and he should be.

Fourth War Loan Drive To Be Launched at Friday Rally

Marion County Kickoff To Be Held in Epworth Church at Meeting of Workers.

The opening gun in Marion county's Fourth War Loan Drive, with a record-breaking $2,638,000 as the goal, will be fired Friday night when the county's War Finance committee workers assemble for a rally.

It will be held at 7:30 in Epworth Methodist church and in addition to officials who will explain the procedure to be used in the big war bond campaign, the program will include talks by two prominent speakers, DeLoss Walker, former associate editor of Liberty magazine, and Lieut. Robert L. Hartzell, a former Flying Tiger who evacuated Jimmy Doolittle and 19 of his Tokyo raiders from Chungking 15 days after their historic raid.

Although the Fourth War Loan drive is to start nationally on Jan 18, Marion county's organization will swing into action immediately after the Friday night rally, County Chairman Elmer J. Schoenlaub said.

The quota this time is high, and more emphasis is to be placed on the purchases of individuals. The objectives, boiled down to terms of each individual's share, have been computed as follows:

For wage earners—at least one-third of a month's income, including your present payroll deduction purchases. An example, if you are making $150 a month, you are to be asked to increase your present rate of purchases sufficiently to have put $50 into bonds in the Fourth War Loan drive.

For farm residents—at least a dollar an acre for the land you own or operate. If yours is a 100-acre farm your individual quota is $100.

Plan To See All

There won't be much local fanfare connected with the campaign—it will be a matter of steady work for the county war finance committee organization and the air raid wardens with the objective of reaching every Marion county resident with an effective appeal to buy his or her share of bonds.

In the business district, the block chairmen and their workers will carry the ball, systematically canvassing their assigned blocks and contacting every person in that block. In the factories, the labor-management committees will function with the help of special treasury representatives assigned to each factory by the county war finance committee. Thus, some 90 per cent of all Marion families will be contacted through the members' places of employment.

To supplement this coverage and reach those not contacted by these means, the county committee has asked the assistance of the air raid wardens, who will make a house-to-house canvass. Their work is bound to duplicate that of the other workers in the city setup, but they are to seek sales wherever possible, and especially in homes not otherwise reached.

In the rural areas there are community and township committees ready to do the job under the direction of their respective chairmen. These workers have been so organized that every rural home should be reached by the time the campaign is concluded.

Kick-Off Program.

At Friday night's kick-off rally the Harding High school band will play from 7:30 to 8. After invocation by Miss Margaret Huffman of Epworth Methodist church, there will be a brief talk by Mr. Walker, an explanation of the workers' duties by Louis E. Michel, secretary of the committee, a distribution of supplies, a talk by Lieut. Hartzell and adjournment.

All members of the committee and the various workers have been given two tickets to the Friday night meeting to enable them to bring their wives.

The dates of the national campaign are Jan .18 to Feb. 15, but partially because of the early start Marion county will get, and for the further purpose of winding up the big job as quickly as possible to save time of all persons concerned, a special effort will be made to put the Marion county drive over the top by Feb. 10.

The campaign slogan is "Let's All Back the Attack."

Marion county's big quota is broken down as follows:

Individuals—$1,379,000 including $819,000 in E bonds, $191,000 in F and G bonds and $369,000 in other denominations.

Corporations—$1,459,000. There is no designation of the denominations for corporations.

Borders Not Fixed

The broadcast asserted, however, that while the 1939 incorporation corrected "the injustice permitted by the Riga agreement in 1921," the Soviet government "does not regard 1939 borders as unchangeable."

The declaration emphasized that Poland's western borders "must be extended by means of incorporating in Poland the primordial Polish lands previously taken away by Germany," thus giving her "a necessary outlet to the Baltic sea."

Suggesting the "Curzon line proposed by the then British foreign secretary, could be the basis of a Russian-Polish border, the broadcast recalled that this line was accepted in 1919 by the supreme council of the allied powers, although it was rejected by the Poles.

Clare Luce's Daughter Killed in Accident

PALO ALTO, Calif., Jan. 11—Anne Clare Brokaw, daughter of Clare Boothe Luce, was killed today in an automobile accident.

She was returning to Stanford university after a visit with her mother, congresswoman from Connecticut, who was here on a speaking tour.

Miss Brokaw was Mrs. Luce's only daughter, born of a previous marriage to George Brokaw. She was a senior at Stanford.

L. A. High, Former Marion Resident, Dies

L. A. High, 50, of near Canal Winchester, former resident of Marion, died yesterday at his home following an illness of a year. Word of his death was received here by E. G. Siefert, manager of the Ohio State Life Insurance Co. with which Mr. High was associated as general agent at the time of his death.

Mr. High was in charge of the branch office here for three years prior to January 1926 when he left to take over the managership of the Columbus office.

Surviving are the widow and two sons, Robert High who is with the U. S. Marine Corps in the South Pacific war area and Evan G. High at home.

Funeral services will be held at 1:30 p. m. Thursday at the Grimes funeral home at Canal Winchester.

Airlines Representative On Visit to Marion

The aviation committee of the Marion Chamber of Commerce is awaiting further information from State Airlines, Inc., of Charlotte, N. C., following a visit here late last week of E. A. Rollerson, a representative of the company. He asked the committee to send representatives to federal hearings in Washington when and if the company's application to establish air routes that would serve Marion are up for consideration.

While in Marion, Mr. Rollerson contacted both Louis E. Michel, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, and Mayor H. L. Dowler in the interests of the company's plans.

Lack of Normal Rain Worries Crop Planners

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11—Lack of normal rain and snowfall during the fall months today is causing considerable concern to agriculture department and war food administration officials who have been charged with the task of providing large amounts of food in 1944 for civilians, the armed services and lend-lease.

The agriculture department said the prospect for a continued heavy volume of crop production in 1944 is not as favorable as it was at the beginning of 1942 and 1943.

Professional Engineers Hear Cincinnati Man

A meeting of the Marion Chapter of the Ohio Society of Professional Engineers was held following a dinner Monday night at Hotel Harding. Engineers from Marion, Union, Delaware and Morrow counties were present.

A. H. Hinkle, district engineer for the Asphalt Institute of Cincinnati, O., guest speaker presented an illustrated talk on the "Origin, Nature and Use of Asphalt." He explained the source of the product and named the correct types to use on the varied jobs of both construction and repair.

It was announced the February meeting would be cancelled and the local members will attend the state convention to be held in Columbus Feb. 10-11. The Deshler-Wallick Hotel has been named as headquarters for the meeting.

Employment Ceilings Placed on Some Areas

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11—War plants in possibly 80 Metropolitan areas will get employment "ceilings" beyond which they may not go, under a new program of manpower rationing announced by the war manpower commission today.

Chairman Paul V. McNutt said WMC has reached an agreement with the Army, Navy, Maritime commission and war production board, whereby those agencies will cooperate to budget the labor supply in each area where a relatively few plants—perhaps three, two or even one—dominate the field.

The new program does not apply in the 17 areas where an "area manpower priority committee" had already been established to allocate available labor to essential plants.

Such committees are found in the following Ohio areas: Cleveland, Akron, Dayton-Springfield, Canton, Youngstown, and Piqua-Troy-Sidney-Lima.

City Program Mapped for 1944

V. Ruth is cooperating fully in the new plans, and that within a few months he hopes to see several of the programs taking definite shape.

Appropriation Set

Headlining council's official action was the annual appropriations ordinance which sets up the finances for various city departments for the year. This ordinance and discussion that centered around it showed the city is in the best financial position it has enjoyed for years. The $26,000 balance carried over from last year plus the fact that there is an unappropriated cushion of $8,132 remaining after full appropriations were made for each department is a far cry from the city's financial plight of 20 years ago when council was issuing bonds annually to pay for operating deficits, thus plunging the city further into debt.

To run all city departments this year, council appropriated $255,389 as compared with $256,322.82 appropriated for last year's operations. This is aside from debt requirements of approximately $59,137 which is a little less than a year ago.

The salary raises voted by last year's council at its final meeting—estimated to cost the city $11,000 annually—won't cost nearly that much due to the fact the police and fire departments are losing men to the armed services and to other jobs and are unable to replace them with others of desirable age and qualifications. Officials estimated the raises would cost the city somewhere between $5,000 and $7,000 more this year unless the departments are brought to full strength.

Appropriating Items

Some of the bigger items in the appropriations, with last year's figures in parentheses, follow:

Police department, $57,570 ($56,670); fire department, $82,685 ($78,045); health administration, $4,765 ($4,495); health inspection, $2,175 ($1,090); safety-service administration, $5,205 ($4,310); city engineer, $2,600 ($2,515); street lights, $25,000 (same); sewage treatment works, $14,600 ($12,615); sewers, $3,500 ($1,700); buildings and lands, $8,084 ($8,059); water hydrant rentals, $23,000 (same); parks, $3,500 ($2,000); fire department pension fund, $10,804 ($9,306); police pensions, $10,804 ($9,306); hospital, $139,410 ($131,743); garbage collection, $47,780 ($53,000), motor vehicle fund, $24,100 (same); gasoline tax money, $44,800 (same).

The city's revenue will come roughly from the following sources: $26,158 balance from last year, $122,142 real estate taxes, $10,000 classified property tax, $109,220 from other sources including $37,000 in state sales taxes, $20,000 in liquor taxes, $15,000 from municipal court and $25,000 from parking meters.

Deficit Explained

Mayor Dowler disclosed the plight of the city garbage and rubbish department in an informal talk to councilmen preceding the meeting, reporting the department was about $6,000 in the hole at the end of the year, plus having used up a $3,000 cash balance on hand at the first of 1943. He said overtime pay, paid for nearly a fourth of the work done by the department, was a big factor in this, and commented in answer to one query that the increased business of the department was a financial curse instead of a blessing because "every new customer caused us to lose a little more money." He said this situation is one of the No. 1 problems on the slate of Safety-Service Director Ruth, and that James T. Sons, now street superintendent, is to be put in charge of the department exclusively with instructions to pull it out of the red. Despite manpower problems and other difficulties, it certainly can be put on a sound basis, he declared.

The sewage treatment works is already assured some attention, but may get a sizeable improvement program if a study now being made by City Engineer Catheers with councilmen and other officials taking a hand, shows that drastic improvements are needed to save the plant from collapse. Officials said Mayor Dowler said the situation has been reported to him as bad, but not too bad. He said he plans, along with other officials, to make a personal study of the plant and its needs.

Traffic Court Plan

The traffic court proposal of Mayor Dowler won quick support among councilmen. It will be set up by transferring a deputy clerk from the municipal court to the police department to act as the secretary of Chief Marks and also operate the traffic bureau. The bureau would operate something like this. If an offender gets a traffic ticket and ignores it, he will get a notice from the bureau in five days. If he ignores this and another one, an affidavit is sworn out, he is arrested and instead of paying the usual $1 penalty he is hauled into court to pay the fine—plus $6.20 in court costs. Other cities, including Mansfield, have already been visited by officials to study the traffic bureau plan in operation. The mayor commented that parking meters easily might become a "dead investment" if enforcement of tickets is neglected.

When expiration of the domestic water rate contract was mentioned, it was pointed out that William Simmons, Harry Wilhelm and Pearl Sells are the councilmen on the proper committee to begin a study of the rates.

When the City hospital addition was mentioned, Mayor Dowler said there was a possibility the final equipment would arrive to permit use of the addition in March or shortly thereafter.

Other Business

Council also:

Created position of full-time parking meter maintenance man at a starting salary of $155 a month.

Approved the mayor's reappointment of Dr. J. W. Bull to the city health board for five years.

Approved mayor's appointment of John V. Ruth as safety-service director at a salary of $2,120 a year.

Elected Councilman Harold F. Robinson president pro tem of council to serve in absence of Council President W. G. Clark.

Reemployed Mrs. Mayme Gorton as city clerk.

Elected Councilman Malcolm Severns to the police pension board succeeding Earle Johnson, who went off council at the end of last year.

Roebuck reported, leading other churches in the conference.

JAP SUPPLY CENTERS HIT FROM SEA, AIR

By The Associated Press

ADVANCE ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, NEW GUINEA, Jan. 11—Sea and air attacks on Japanese plane and supply centers accented allied warfare in the Southwest Pacific, with the enemy's lifeline along the New Guinea northeast coast taking a heavy hammering.

The big base at Madang and its nearby protecting airdromes and defense points were hit with 168 tons of bombs, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's communique said today, making a total of 950 tons hurled on supply dumps, gun positions and airfields there in the past 10 days. Three loaded barges were destroyed.

American light naval units bombarded enemy shore installations at Gali Point, 20 miles south of Saidor beachhead, and PT boats smashed enemy barges offshore, destroying seven loaded with troops and supplies and four more.

Liberator heavy bombers struck the Japanese airbase at Kendari on the east coast of Celebes island, and fought a 35-minute continuing action with 13 interceptor planes, downing six of the enemy and probably four others. One bomber was lost.

Planes from the south Pacific command's Solomon islands airfields attacked a Japanese convoy of one destroyer and four freighters off Cape Mantanalem near Kavieng, New Ireland, with undetermined results.

Australian Beaufort medium bombers again hit Rabaul, prime enemy air and supply center on the northeastern tip of New Britain.

Third War Seen Certain Without Big Four Pledges

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

How many of you noted the highly important declaration by James C. Dunn, state department adviser on European political relations, that but for the agreement reached at the Moscow conference by Russia, America, Britain and China a third world war was certain?

"These four nations," said Mr. Dunn in a week-end broadcast for the state department, "committed themselves to a policy of continuing cooperation. If they hadn't done so the dread certainty of a third world war would have settled on us even before World war II was finished."

While he didn't mention 'alliances,' his disclosure fits well with a statement made in this column about a month ago on the question of peace versus war. I revert to the subject because it represents one of the greatest problems of the lives of our generation for that matter.

In the previous column I reported that there's a very considerable school which feels that, looking at the matter from a purely interest-centered standpoint, the maintenance of peace must depend on a military alliance among the big three, America, Russia and Britain, just as the winning of this war hinges on the continued cooperation of these three dominant world-powers on the battlefield.

Smuts Blunt Statement

The reader may recall the blunt appraisal of this question recently in London by Field Marshal Jan Smuts, Prime Minister of South Africa and one of the great soldier-statesmen of our time. Said he:

"These three powers must retain the leadership in war and in peace and be responsible, in the first instance, for the maintenance of security and for the preservation of world peace; and this primary responsibility will not be affected by any duties resting on the rest of the United Nations."

It strikes me that if the lesson of the League of Nations means anything, it is that any peace organization to be successful at this junction of our history must have as a nucleus an alliance of the dominant powers which are agreed to maintain peace by force if necessary. Around this nucleus may be formed a United Nations. Certainly China should be included in the alliance, but at the moment her strength is potential rather than actual because of the ravages of her protracted war with Japan.

The Big Three, taken as a unit, have the physical strength to enforce their decisions. If the advocates of this alliance are right then peace can be maintained just so long as the trio hangs together. Peace will be in danger the moment the combination breaks up.

Argue To Continue Pact

Those who are opposed to alliances in general may find this idea hard to accept. However, its exponents point to the two World wars of our time as demonstrating that any major conflict must become global, between blocs of allied nations, and that neither the United States nor any other great power can avoid being enmeshed. Geography no longer provides defence for any country.

Since we were in an alliance in the last war, and are in another now, it's argued that it's a logical step to continue the pact for the purpose of maintaining peace and security. Of course, not to hope for permanent peace someday, and to work for it, would be to deny our religion and civilization. However, the fact that we arm heavily and make alliances to keep the peace doesn't mean that we are cultivating militarism. Indeed, our government already has decided that once this war is over we must return to the way of our pilgrim fathers and plow with rifles handy.

There's one fear which I constantly encounter in discussing this burning problem. Many Americans are afraid that an alliance with Russia may in some way result in communism being thrust upon this country, or at least in the barrier to it being lowered. They seem to have the idea for some reason that we must be kind to the "ism" because of friendship with the Soviet Union. However, I haven't yet found anyone who can explain why we are under obligation to foster any political belief we don't want, any more than Russia is under obligation to accept our American form of government. We don't have to establish a monarchy because of a close working agreement with Britain, and we should fight the idea tooth and nail if it were proposed.

8 BILLION IN WAR ORDERS CANCELLED

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Jan. 11—Chairman Truman (D-Mo) of the senate's war investigating committee said today $8,000,000,000 in Army and Navy contracts have been cancelled to date and declared the time is coming when some communities will find themselves with a serious unemployment problem.

"The manpower problem, although present yet today, is nearing its peak," the senator told the National Retail Dry Goods association's wartime conference here.

"While it is impossible to prophesy the time when the war will end, I can tell you that the production of war materiel in some items has been so great that about $6,000,000,000 of Army contracts and about $2,000,000,000 of Navy contracts have had to be cancelled.

"This is only the beginning of such cancellations. ***

"Although the manpower problem will continue as a serious one for the nation as a whole, many communities will find that in their area they have a manpower surplus. In some communities, there will be a serious unemployment problem.

"This makes it very important that sound action be taken now to provide for increased production of civilian articles."

The senator told the retailers care must be taken to maintain adequate stocks while at the same time, avoiding the risk of building war-time stocks excesses that will carry into peacetime.

CHALLENGES MILK ORDER IN COURT

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Jan. 11—President William A. Warehime of the Nezon Milk Food Co. challenged today in a federal court suit the constitutionality of a war food administration directive regulating distribution of fluid milk and cream in markets of more than 100,000 population.

Warehime petitioned the court for an injunction temporarily restraining WFA from enforcing its directive. Listed as defendants are Marvin Jones, federal food administrator; Fred Isler of Cincinnati, state market agent, and H. H. Varney, Cleveland and Akron market agent.

In the directive WFA limits milk distributors to 100 per cent of their June, 1943, fluid milk sales and to 75 per cent of their cream sales volume of the same month.

Warehime, joined in the action by 26 Cleveland distributor-associates, asserted under the plan participating distributors would pay from one to three cents per hundredweight on sales of milk, cream or by-products to finance administration of the order.

The plaintiff contends the fee actually is a tax and that the food administration lacks authority to levy taxes or to allocate such income to administrative purposes.

Varney commented that "if the order is thrown out we will probably have a more drastic regulation because it is now evident there will not be enough milk to supply the fluid markets."

Irish To Play Pleasant On Edison Floor

Both of [illegible] far from [illegible] [illegible] record [illegible] have the [illegible] Pleasant [illegible] play. The out-of-town club has defeated Agosta, Green Camp while losing to Morral and LaRue, respectively the twelve-team league's second and third place teams. Pleasant has aggregated 144 points while being scored against to the tune of 96 counters.

The Irish of Lane McCrate are favored to capture win No. 5 tonight because of their brilliant exhibition against a previously undefeated St. Gerard five Friday night. The locals displayed heretofore concealed aggressiveness and spirit in downing the haughty Lima visitors. However, whether the St. Maryites can retain that high pitch of determination for four days remains to been seen.

Pleasant's latest engagement was Friday night's 41 to 25 loss to Don Burton's defending county champs, LaRue. W. Seiter led the Pleasant offense with 14 points, which elevate him to the position of leading team scorer, with 37 markers in four games. Dean and Jim Cusick, who did not see any action against LaRue, hold higher scoring averages than Seiter, however, with 31 and 32 points respectively in three games.

Forward Danny McGinnis tallied 10 points against Lima Friday night to raise his season total to 86 markers in eight games. This is tops for the Irish roster. Center Jim Lawler ranks second with 59 in eight tussles.

Tonight's varsity tilt will get under way at 8:30 and will be preceded at 7:30 by a reserve game between the St. Mary and Pleasant JayVee clubs.

Universal Beats Kirkpatrick 56-40 To Tighten Loop Lead

The Universal Cooler quintet in the Marion County Y. M. C. A. cage league strengthened its grip on first place in the loop standings last night by handing the Kirkpatrick team a 56-40 setback on the Y court. This gave Cooler its seventh straight win with no defeats in league play.

Green Camp scored a 69-32 victory over Greenwood to advance into a tie for fifth place, while the losers rounded out seven defeats in a row.

The Fairfield girls won, 27-19, over the Huber lassies but remain in second place, trailing the undefeated Caledonia combine.

Seniors Take Over Hi-Y Loop Lead

The Seniors won a 35-30 victory over Edison last night in Hi-Y basketball league competition at the Y. M. C. A. and thereby won undisputed first place with two games won and none lost.

Edison's loss plus the Juniors' 108-13 victory over the Sophomores landed Edison and the Juniors in a two-way tie for second place while the sophs landed in fourth.

NOTES FROM THE CLUBHOUSE

WITH AP SPORTS WRITERS

By ROMNEY WHEELER
Associated Press' Writer

ATLANTA—"He gets the maximum out of limited material." So says Wisconsin's Harry Stuhldreher, in summing up the coaching career of William Anderson Alexander. Concisely and correctly, it tells the story of Georgia Tech's great coach.

When his war-time football team defeated previously unbeaten Tulsa University in New Orleans' Sugar Bowl it completed a gridiron grand slam for Bill Alexander. Now he is the first coach in the history of American football to take teams to all four major bowls.

Bill Alexander

Many have made two bowls; several have visited three—but only Georgia Tech and Bill Alexander have made the rounds.

There is a legend at Georgia Tech that Alexander came to the flats along with steel girders and concrete that built Grant Field. Actually, he antedates even the stadium. That was started in 1913, when Alex had been assistant football coach for a year. He served six seasons as aide to the late John W. Heisman (taking time out in 1917-18 for overseas service with the Army), and succeeded Heisman in 1920. He has been head football coach and athletic director ever since.

Born in Kentucky

Alex was born June 6, 1889, at Mud River, Ky., and entered George Tech as an engineering student in 1906. Slender and physically unequal to the battering-ram football of the day, he nevertheless clung determinedly to a place on the squad. He survived three rocky seasons, was never good enough to win a place on the Varsity, but was so ardently enthusiastic that he played enough to earn his letter.

He took a degree in civil engineering in 1912, serving the two previous seasons as student assistant football coach. In the fall of 1912 he became an instructor in the mathematics department, and regular assistant coach under Heisman. At one time he held a full professorship, but his love of football led him instead to a full-time gridiron career and a reputation as a master football tactician.

Part of his success is due to a staff of brilliant assistants—and the ablest of these is backfield coach Bobby Dodd, one of the all-time greats produced by the University of Tennessee. Dodd has had many offers to become head coach elsewhere, but prefers to remain at Georgia Tech. Other aides include line coach Bob Miller, scouts Dwight Keith and Norris Dean and trainer Claude Bond, one-time Southern association baseball umpire.

Gray and Gruff

Gray-haired, gruff and often a bit grumpy, he adheres to no fixed system and varies his formations from year to year to fit available talent. He even switches systems in mid-season when necessary.

He is proud of his 1928 national championship team, which beat California, 8-7, in the Rose Bowl. He is proud, too, of his 1939 team—the pigskin magicians—which whipped Missouri, 21-7, in the Orange Bowl, and of his 1942 team which lost a 14-7 decision to Texas in the Cotton Bowl.

But he is proudest of Tech's former football players who are distinguishing themselves in a grimmer combat. Pictures of five hang on the walls of his office—five who have given their lives for their country.

Under his guidance, three great linemen have won recognition on The Associated Press All-America teams. Bill Fincher, one of Tech's most spectacular ends, made it in 1920. Frank Speer, mountainous tackle, won similar acclaim in 1928. John Steber, Navy V-12 transfer guard from Vanderbilt, placed on the 1943 All-America.

Illegal football has no place in Alexander's lexicon, and the player who commits a foul will get a worse dressing down than one who makes a costly blunder. Once, in practice, the varsity went for a touchdown only to have the play called back for holding. Alex yanked out the offender and thundered "You committed a foul! A player who commits a foul admits that he's not man enough to handle his opponent. You not only cost us 15 yards, but you also cost us a touchdown—forever. Get off the field!"

Same Coach To Work for O.N.U. and Bluffton

By The Associated Press

ADA, O., Jan. 11—Wartime manpower conditions added a new wrinkle to the sports map today—putting one coach at the head of two college athletic departments.

A. C. Burcky, veteran athletic chief at Bluffton college, will continue at that post and also take over direction of Ohio Northern university teams here for the remainder of the year to fill in for Millard (Lefty) Murphy, who reports for army service at Fort Hayes in Columbus.

Bluffton and Ohio Northern are located in adjoining counties.

Burcky will be in charge of the Ohio Northern Polar Bears when they meet Denison's basketball team here tomorrow night.

Leading Jockey Would Rather See Races from Stands

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 11—After 17 years of booting race horses home, Alfred Robertson [illegible] a bigger [illegible] as a trainer sitting in the grandstand [illegible] record.

"You see more of [illegible] from that angle," declared the little man [illegible] he has added his first [illegible] on opening day at Hialeah park.

He retired [illegible] year having won more races and earned more [illegible] than any living rider. His purses through 1942 hit $2,185,[illegible].

"There's more work to training 'em than riding 'em," he asserted. "It's an all day job, every day. But it's good to sit back and enjoy it when the horses come down to the finish line. And it's better to put your feet under the table and get three square meals a day without worrying."

All was just kidding about that last, for he is one jockey who saved his money and retired with a bank account. In addition to his training duties for Christopher Ranch he is an owner himself with a pair of promising yearlings—Lively Man and Metta's Doll.

Snatches of Sports

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Jan. 11—The oddest of the "screwy season" ideas about baseball to turn up this winter is the suggestion offered to the Sporting News by advertisingman William C. D'Arcy of St. Louis . . . He proposes a 16-team major league "road show" to pay week-end visits to smaller centers and thus stimulate interest and participation in the game . . . Besides requiring some 300 more players of major league ability, the program would need adequate parks in the small towns and some substitute for the minor leagues to develop young players . . . The fans would hardly support bush league baseball on week days when they could save their dimes and watch big leagues on Saturday and Sunday.

He twisted his right knee playing informal basketball Dec. 31 and has been hospitalized ever since . . . Before the New York's lily bowl game in Bermuda, Frank Buckley, the Navy blocking back from Saranac, N. Y., wasn't sure he could remember the plays. So Buck had them typed out and taped to his football pants . . . when a teammate warned him that an army player might see the instructions during a pile-up, Buck replied: "I'm not worried about that. If they're like me, it'll take them a month to figure them out."

Detroiter Coming To Operate Lanes

Bill Tarr of Detroit is scheduled to arrive in Marion Thursday or Friday to assume managerial duties of the Marion Recreation Center bowling plant on South Prospect street, Al Shull, Palace Recreation manager announced today.

Tarr, who together with Shull is owner of the Marion and Palace establishments here, has been operating the Mack Recreation lanes in Detroit for the past several years. He is reported to hold a 180 bowling average, which is considered near top-flight.

Tarr succeeds Floyd Messmore as Marion Recreation manager.

Harry Mounts captured top money in last week's singles bowling competition for city league pin-spillers with a 245 count, posted at the Marion Recreation. Leading women's score was the 175 of Miss Hickman, Ladies' All-Star kegler at the Marion alleys.

PUTTER DID IT, SAYS JUG. Jug McSpaden of Philadelphia kisses his magic putter which won for him first prize of $4,375 in war bonds in the $12,500 Los Angeles open golf tourney. McSpaden shot a sizzling 66, five under par, on the final round to finish three strokes up on Johnny Bulla of Chicago, who finished second. McSpaden shortly will be inducted into the armed services.

McSpaden Wins Golf Title

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 11—America's richest golf prize, the $12,500 Los Angeles open championship, is the latest conquests of Harold (Jug) McSpaden of Philadelphia.

After winning four of his last six tournaments, the Quaker City professional triumphed in another yesterday at the Wilshire country club with a 72-hole total of 278.

He finished with a rush in the final 18 holes to post a stunning 66, five under par, and beat the best previous 72-hole score for the open over this course—a 281 in 1933 by Craig Wood.

Jug won $4,375 in war bonds for consistency. His four rounds were 69-72-71-66 for the par 71 course.

Johnny Bulla of Atlanta, who won the Los Angeles open in 1941, finished second with 281 to pocket $2,125.

Leonard Dodson of La Jolla, Calif., Wood and Toledo's Byron Nelson tied with 282's for next place and $1,125 each. The veteran Willie Hunter of Santa Monica, Calif., was a stroke behind to collect $625.

Sammy Byrd, who set the pace for the first two rounds, cracked up badly and his final round of 75 left him tied at 287 with Ellsworth Vines, ex-tennis champion.

Labbs, DiMaggio Lead Whiffers

NEW YORK, Jan. 11—The unwanted 1943 major league baseball championships—the dubious honor of striking out the most times—went to Chet Labbs of the St. Louis Browns and the Vince DiMaggio of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

DiMaggio the innocent figure in the July rebellion of the Brooklyn Dodgers, fanned 126 times while Labbs whiffed 105 times. The records do not show how many times they went down swinging or took a called third strike.

A difference of opinion how to pitch to the Pirate outfielder played a leading role in the Brooklyn revolt. Manager Leo Durocher told Pitcher Bobo Newsom he failed to carry out pitching instructions when DiMaggio doubled. The ensuing discussion provided the spark that set off the mutiny before the game the next day.

Another unsought distinction—that of grounding into the most infield double plays—went to Jim Bloodworth of Detroit and Sid Gordon of the New York Giants, with 29 and 28 respectively.

MAJORITY OF PEOPLE ARE MAKING SACRIFICES

whelming majority of met the demands of this war with magnificent courage and understanding. They have accepted inconveniences, they have accepted hardships, they have accepted tragic sacrifices. And they are ready and eager to make whatever further contributions are needed to win the war as quickly as possible—if only they are given the chance to know what is required of them.

However, while the majority goes on about its great work without complaint, a noisy minority maintains an uproar of demands for special favors for special groups. There are pests who swarm through the lobbies of the congress and the cocktail bars of Washington, representing these special groups as opposed to the basic interests of the nation as a whole. They have come to look upon the war primarily as a chance to make profits for themselves at the expense of their neighbors—profits in money or in terms of political or social preferment.

Such selfish agitation can be highly dangerous in wartime. It creates confusion. It damages morale. It hampers our national effort. It muddies the waters and therefore prolongs the war.

If we analyze American history impartially, we cannot escape the fact that in our past we have not always forgotten individual and selfish and partisan interests in time of war—we have not always been united in purpose and direction. We cannot overlook the serious dissensions and the lack of unity in our war of the revolution, in our war of 1812, or in our war between the states, when the survival of the union itself was at stake.

In the first World war we came closer to national unity than in any previous war. But that war lasted only a year and a half, and increasing signs of disunity began to appear during the final months of the conflict.

In this war, we have been compelled to learn how interdependent upon each other are all groups and sections of the population of America.

Increased food costs, for example, will bring new demands for wage increases from all war workers, which will in turn raise all prices of all things including those things which the farmers themselves have to buy. Increased wages or prices will each in turn produce the same results. They all have a particularly disastrous result of all fixed income groups.

WARNS AGAINST DANGER OF RELAXING

And I hope you will remember that all of us in this government represent the fixed income group just as much as we represent business owners, workers and farmers. This group of fixed-income people include: teachers, clergy, policemen, firemen, widows and minors on fixed incomes, wives and dependents of our soldiers and sailors, and old age pensioners. They and their families add up to one-quarter of our one hundred and thirty million people. They have few or no high pressure representatives at the Capitol. In a period of gross inflation they would be the worst sufferers.

If ever there was a time to subordinate individual or group selfishness to the national good, that time is now. Disunity at home—bickering, self-seeking partisanship, stoppages of work, inflation, business as usual, politics as usual, luxury as usual—these are the influences which can undermine the morale of the brave men ready to die at the front for us here.

Those who are doing most of the complaining are not deliberately striving to sabotage the national war effort. They are laboring under the delusion that the time is past when we must make prodigious sacrifices—that the war is already won and we can begin to slacken off. But the dangerous folly of that point of view can be measured by the distance that separates our troops from their ultimate objectives in Berlin and Tokyo—and by the sum of all the perils that lie along the way.

Over-confidence and complacency are among our deadliest enemies. Last spring—after notable victories at Stalingrad and in Tunisia and against the U-boats on the high seas—over-confidence became so pronounced that war production fell off. In two months, June and July, 1943, more than a thousand airplanes that could have been made and should have been made were not made. Those who failed to make them were not on strike. They were merely saying, "The war's in the bag—so let's relax."

CITES LESSONS OF LAST WAR

That attitude on the part of anyone—government or management or labor—can lengthen this war. It can kill American boys.

Let us remember the lessons of 1918. In the summer of that year the tide turned in favor of the allies. But this government did not relax. In fact, our national effort was stepped up. In August, 1918, the draft age limits were broadened from 21-31 to 18-45. The president called for "force to the utmost," and his call was heeded. And in November, only three months later, Germany surrendered.

That is the way to fight and win a war—all out—and not with half-an-eye on the battlefronts abroad and the other eye-and-a-half on personal, selfish or political interests here at home.

Therefore, in order to concentrate all our energies and resources on winning the war, and to maintain a fair and stable economy at home, I recommend that the congress adopt:

(1) A realistic tax law—which will tax all unreasonable profits, both individual and corporate, and reduce the ultimate cost of the war to our sons and daughters. The tax bill now under consideration by the congress does not begin to meet this test.

(2) A continuation of the law for the renegotiation of war contracts—which will prevent exorbitant profits and assure fair prices to the government. For two long years I have pleaded with the congress to take undue profits out of war.

(3) A cost of food law—which will enable the government (a) to place a reasonable floor under the prices the farmer may expect for his production and (b) to place a ceiling on the prices a consumer will have to pay for the food he buys. This should apply to necessities only, and will require public funds to carry out. It will cost in appropriations about one per cent of the present annual cost of the war.

SEES NECESSITY FOR NATIONAL SERVICE ACT

(4) Early reenactment of the stabilization statute of October 1942. This expires June 30, 1944, and if it is not extended well in advance, the country might just as well expect price chaos by summer.

We cannot have stabilization by wishful thinking. We must take positive action to maintain the integrity of the American dollar.

(5) A national service law—which, for the duration of the war, will prevent strikes, and, with certain appropriate exceptions, will make available for war production or for any other essential services every able-bodied adult in this nation.

These five measures together form a just and equitable whole. I would not recommend a national service law unless the other laws were passed to keep down the cost of living, to share equitably the burdens of taxation, to hold the stabilization line, and to prevent undue profits.

The federal government already has the basic power to draft capital and property of all kinds for war purposes on a basis of just compensation.

As you know, I have for three years hesitated to recommend a national service act. Today, however, I am convinced of its necessity. Although I believe that we and our allies can win the war without such a measure, I am certain that nothing less than total mobilization of all our resources of manpower and capital will guarantee an earlier victory, and reduce the toll of suffering and sorrow and blood.

I have received a joint recommendation for this law from the heads of the War department, the Navy department and the Maritime commission. These are the men who bear responsibility for the procurement of the necessary arms and equipment, and for the successful prosecution of the war in the field. They say:

"When the very life of the nation is in peril the responsibility for service is common to all men and women. In such a time there can be no discrimination between the men and women who are assigned by the government to its defense at the battlefront and the men and women assigned to producing the vital materials essential to successful military operations. A prompt enactment of a national service law would be merely an expression of the universality of this responsibility."

EXPLAINS MEANING OF NATIONAL SERVICE ACT

I believe the country will agree that those statements are the solemn truth.

National service is the most democratic way to wage a war. Like selective service for the armed forces, it rests on the obligation of each citizen to serve his nation to his utmost where he is best qualified.

It does not mean reduction in wages. It does not mean loss of retirement and seniority rights and benefits. It does not mean that any substantial numbers of war workers will be disturbed in their present jobs. Let these facts be wholly clear.

Experience in other democratic nations at war—Britain, Canada, Australia and New Zealand—has shown that the very existence of national service makes unnecessary the widespread use of compulsory power. National service has proven to be a unifying moral force—based on an equal and comprehensive legal obligation of all people in a nation at war.

There are millions of American men and women who are not in this war at all. It is not because they do not want to be in it. But they want to know where they can best do their share. National service provides that direction. It will be a means by which every man and woman can find that inner satisfaction which comes from making the fullest possible contribution to victory.

I know that all civilian war workers will be glad to be able to say many years hence to their grandchildren: "Yes, I, too, was in service in the great war. I was on duty in an airplane factory, and I helped make hundreds of fighting planes. The government told me that in doing that I was performing my most useful work in the service of my country."

URGES KEEPING SERVICE ACT OUT OF POLITICS

It is argued that we have passed the stage in the war where national service is necessary. But our soldiers and sailors know that this is not true. We are going forward on a long, rough road—and, in all journeys, the last miles are the hardest. And it is for that final effort—for the total defeat of our enemies—that we must mobilize our total resources. The national war program calls for the employment of more people in 1944 than in 1943.

It is my conviction that the American people will welcome this win-the-war measure which is based on the eternally just principle of "fair for one, fair for all."

It will give our people at home the assurance that they are standing four-square behind our soldiers and sailors. And it will give our enemies demoralizing assurance that we mean business—that we, 135,000,000 Americans, are on the march to Rome, Berlin and Tokyo.

I hope that the congress will recognize that, although this is a political year, national service is an issue which transcends politics. Great power must be used for great purposes.

As to the machinery for this measure, the congress itself should determine its nature—but it should be wholly non-partisan in its make-up.

Our armed forces are valiently fulfilling their responsibilities to our country and our people. Now the congress faces the responsibility for taking those measures which are essential to national security in this the most decisive phase of the nation's greatest war.

Several alleged reasons have prevented the enactment of legislation which would preserve for our soldiers and sailors and marines the fundamental prerogative of citizenship—the right to vote. No amount of legalistic argument can becloud this issue in the eyes of these ten million American citizens. Surely the signers of the Constitution did not intend a document which, even in wartime, would be construed to take away the franchise of any of those who are fighting to preserve the Constitution itself.

POINTS TO NATIONAL NEEDS AFTER WAR

Our soldiers and sailors and marines know that the overwhelming majority of them will be deprived of the opportunity to vote, if the voting machinery is left exclusively to the states under existing state laws—and that there is no likelihood of these laws being changed in time to enable them to vote at the next election. The Army and Navy have reported that it will be impossible effectively to administer forty-eight different soldier-voting laws. It is the duty of the congress to remove this unjustifiable discrimination against the men and women in our armed forces—and to do it as quickly as possible.

It is our duty now to begin to lay the plans and determine the strategy for the winning of a lasting peace and the establishment of an American standard of living higher than ever before known. We cannot be content, no matter how high that general standard of living may be, if some fraction of our people—whether it be one-third or one-fifth or one-tenth—is ill-fed, ill-clothed, ill-housed, and insecure.

This republic had its beginning, and grew to its present strength, under the protection of certain inalienable political rights—among them the right of free speech, free press, free worship, trial by jury, freedom from unreasonable searches and seizures. They were our rights to life and liberty.

As our nation has grown in size and stature, however—as our industrial economy expanded—these political rights proved inadequate to assure us equality in the pursuit of happiness.

We have come to a clear realization of the fact that true individual freedom cannot exist without economic security and independence. "Necessitous men are not free men." People who are hungry and out of a job are the stuff of which dictatorships are made.

In our day these economic truths have become accepted as self-evident. We have accepted, so to speak, a second bill of rights under which a new basis of security and prosperity can be established for all—regardless of station, race or creed.

Among these are:

The right to a useful and remunerative job in the industries or shops or farms or mines of the nation;

The right to earn enough to provide adequate food and clothing and recreation;

The right of every farmer to raise and sell his products at a return which will give him and his family a decent living;

The right of every businessman, large and small, to trade in an atmosphere of freedom from unfair competition and domination by monopolies at home or abroad;

The right to adequate medical care and the opportunity to achieve and enjoy good health;

The right to adequate protection from the economic fears of old age, sickness, accident and unemployment;

The right to a good education.

All of these rights spell security. And after this war is won we must be prepared to move forward, in the implementation of these rights, to new goals of human happiness and well-being.

SAYS SECURITY AT HOME ESSENTIAL TOO

America's own rightful place in the world depends in large part upon how fully these and similar rights have been carried into practice for all our citizens. For unless there is security here at home there cannot be lasting peace in the world.

One of the great American industrialists of our day—a man who has rendered yeoman service to his country in this crisis—recently emphasized the grave dangers of "rightist reaction" in this nation. All clear-thinking businessmen share his concern. Indeed, if such reaction should develop—if history were to repeat itself and we were to return to the so-called "normalcy" of the 1920's—then it is certain that even though we shall have conquered our enemies on the battlefields abroad, we shall have yielded to the spirit of Fascism here at home.

I ask the congress to explore the means for implementing this economic bill of rights—for it is definitely the responsibility of the congress so to do. Many of these problems are already before committees of the congress in the form of proposed legislation. I shall from time to time communicate with the congress with respect to these and further proposals. In the event that no adequate program of progress is evolved, I am certain that the nation will be conscious of the fact.

Our fighting men abroad—and their families at home—expect such a program and have the right to insist upon it. It is to their demands that this government should pay heed rather than to the whining demands of selfish pressure groups who seek to feather their nests while young Americans are dying.

The foreign policy that we have been following—the policy that guided us at Moscow, Cairo and Teheran—is based on the common sense principle which was best expressed by Benjamin Franklin on July 4, 1776: "We must all hang together, or assuredly we shall all hang separately."

I have often said that there are no two fronts for America in this war. There is only one front. There is one line of unity which extends from the hearts of the people at home to the men of our attacking forces in our farthest outposts. When we speak of our total effort, we speak of the factory and the field and the mine as well as of the battleground—we speak of the soldier and the civilian, the citizen and his government.

Each and every one of us has a solemn obligation under God to serve this nation in its most critical hour—to keep this nation great—to make this nation greater in a better world.

Henry A. Mickley Elected President of Bar Association

HENRY A. MICKLEY

* * *

Officers, headed by Henry A. Mickley of 659 Mt. Vernon avenue, were elected at the annual meeting of the Marion County Bar Association Monday night at Hotel Harding.

Edwin B. Spohn was elected vice president and Carter M. Patton, secretary-treasurer.

Elected to serve as an executive committee were J. D. Williamson, John K. Bartram, Hayes Thompson and Paul D. Michel. Mr. Mickley succeeds Mr. Michel as head of the association.

At a meeting of the Law Library association, Judge Hector S. Young was reelected president, Judge W. D. Hazen, vice president and Robert Kelly, secretary-treasurer. James Reed was elected a trustee of the library association for a term of three years and will serve with Don Williamson and Howard Guthery.

The members met for dinner in the Marion clubroom and following the business session there was a smoker. Nine members of the association are serving with the Armed Forces.

18 Tons of Waste Paper Collected at Galion

Special to The Star

GALION, Jan. 11—More than 18 tons of waste paper were collected here in a salvage campaign last Saturday, it was reported Monday. The drive brought in 36,230 pounds of paper, and was managed by Charles H. Lamb Jr., who is chairman of the Galion Salvage committee.

Galion schools co-operated with the committee, and the city and local industry contributed trucks for the pick-up which was largely completed by Saturday noon.

Money received from the sale of the paper will be turned over to the American Red Cross.

Mrs. F.L.McCarty, Known in Marion, Stricken

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Knapp of 287 Bradford street have received word of the sudden death of Mrs. F. L. McCarty which occurred at 10:30 o'clock Monday night at her home at Orange, N. J. Mrs. McCarty was the mother of Captain Robert F. McCarty, son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Knapp, who is with the Army Air Corps at Pocatello, Ida., and formerly lived here.

According to the telegram Capt. and Mrs. McCarty were to leave immediately by plane for Orange. Mrs. McCarty was known here, having visited at the Knapp home a number of times. Capt. McCarty, who received his commission on Christmas day, was employed with the Marion Steam Shovel Co. before joining the armed forces. He is stationed at the Army Air base at Pocatello.

Marion Talent on Lecture-Recital Program at Hotel

Club members presented the program when the Marion Lecture-Recital club opened the last half of the 1943-44 season Monday evening. The ballroom at Hotel Harding was practically filled for the program presented by Mrs. Eugene H. Moore, vocalist, Mrs. O. D. Anderson, Mrs. Harry T. William, Mrs. Beaver Bricker, Miss Elizabeth Pace, Miss Mary Heininger and Miss Molly Johnson, pianists, and Mrs. Cecil W. Davis, accompanist.

To open the program the piano ensemble, Mrs. Bricker, Miss Pace, Miss Heininger and Miss Johnson, played the National Anthem, after which they played three numbers. The quartet also closed the program with two numbers. Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Anderson chose four numbers for their group and Mrs. Moore presented her solos in two groups, accompanied by Mrs. Davis, giving a word picture of the compositions. The program was one of the most delightful of the season.

Mrs. Harry T. Williams was in charge of a short business session preceding the program hour when plans were completed for the remaining programs of the season. The annual dinner of the club will be held Monday night, Jan. 17, at 6:30 o'clock at Hotel Harding. Reservations are to be made with Miss Wanda McMahan or Miss Dorothy Buckley. During the session three soloists and five members of the chorus were enrolled.

Serving as program aides were Miss McMahan and Miss Buckley. Mrs. Williams announced the next program meeting for Feb. 14 when the Junior club will present a guest artist, Dolores Holtz, child pianist, assisted by her instructor, Alma Betcher, both of Middletown. On March 13 Edwin Arthur Kraft, organist, of Cleveland, will be the guest artist.

GRAINS STRENGTHEN AFTER WEAK OPENING

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Jan. 11—All grains strengthened after a weak opening today and both wheat and rye showed enough rallying power to effect substantial gains from the previous closes.

Buying, however, was scattered, support in wheat coming from locals and in rye from houses with eastern connections. Generally the trade held back from the market to await developments in country marketings as a result of the fixing of ceilings and pending further study of the President's message to congress.

STOCK PRICES GO UP TODAY

Market Strengthens Two Points or More After President's Message.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 — The President's message was viewed as bullish in today's stock market and leading steels, rails, gold mines and specialties were lifted fractions to 2 or more points before the move was stemmed by profit taking.

Prices generally at their best an hour or so before the communication actually was released. Activity picked up on the advance and tapered later as quotations were reduced in most cases. Plus signs were well in the majority near the fourth hour.

Principal Wall Street interest centered in Mr. Roosevelt's request for a national service law.

In front were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, N. Y. Central, Nickel Plate preferred, Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, Bel Aircraft, Anaconda, Allied Chemical, Du Pont and Dow Chemical.

368 CONSIGN STOCK AT MARION SALE

Top Hogs Again at Floor Price of $13.60.

The Marion Union Stock Yard marketed top hogs at the floor price of $13.60 again at its weekly auction—lengthening the series of sales in which the floor price has determined the top price on hogs. Other top prices were $17 for calves, $16 for lambs and $18.70 for cattle. Stock was consigned by 368 persons from Marion and nearby counties. Receipts and quotations follow:

Hogs, receipts 881 head, all good 200 lbs., floor price 13.60; 180-200 lbs., 12.50@13.25; 160-180 lbs., 11.75@12.50; 140-160 lbs., 10.60@11.50; [illegible], 5.00@10.50; good roughs 10.50@11.25; good stags 9.20@10.00; good boars 6.00@8.00.

Sheep and lambs, receipts 2,413; good to choice lambs 15.00@16.00; medium to good lambs 11.50@15.50; good feeder lambs 11.00@15.00; good sheep for slaughter 6.50@7.00; medium sheep for slaughter 6.00@6.50, common and culls 2.50@6.00, top [illegible] 14.50.

Cattle, receipts 319 head; top fat steers, dry fed 18.00@18.70; medium to good steers, dry fed 13.00@15.00; good butcher steers 11.00@14.00; top fat heifers 15.00@15.00, medium to good heifers 10.00@15.00; top fat bulls 10.00@12.10; stocker bulls 9.00@10.50, top fat cows 8.00@10.50; medium cows 6.00@8.00, cutter cows 5.00@6.50; canner cows 5.50@6.00, milk cows 60.00@115.00.

PRESIDENT

to new goals of human happiness and well being.

"America's own rightful place in the world depends in large part upon how fully these and similar rights have been carried into practice for our citizens. For unless there is security here at home there cannot be lasting peace in the world."

If history were to repeat and America were to return to the so-called normalcy of the 1920's, he said, it is certain that though we have conquered enemies on battlefields abroad "we shall have yielded to the spirit of Fascism here at home." All clear thinking business men, he added, share a concern over the grave dangers which would ensue from a "rightist reaction" in America.

It is definitely the responsibility of congress, the President emphasized, to explore methods to effectuate the economic bill of rights. Some of its features already are covered by pending legislation, he said, and he added that he would communicate with congress from time to time on these and further proposals.

He gave congress this warning:

"In the event that no adequate program of progress is evolved I am certain that the nation will be conscious of the fact.

"Our fighting men abroad—and their families at home—expect such a program and have the right to insist upon it. It is to their demands that this government should pay heed rather than to the whining demands of selfish pressure groups who seek to feather their nests while young Americans are dying."

Although he did not make the recommendation at this point, the President appealed to federal legislation to give soldiers, sailors and marines the right to vote.

Men in uniform know that an overwhelming majority of them will be deprived of a chance to vote, he said, if the matter is left entirely to the states under existing state laws, and that there is no likelihood of these laws being changed in time to let them vote at the next election.

"It is the duty of congress," Mr. Roosevelt said, "to remove this unjustifiable discrimination against the men and women in our armed forces—and to do it as quickly as possible."

No amount of legalistic argument, he said, can becloud the issue in the eyes of 10,000,000 Americans in uniform.

ANNUAL FARMERS' WEEK TRANSFERRED TO RADIO

Change Made Because of Travel Limitations.

Farmers' Week, annual gathering of Ohio agriculturists sponsored by the College of Agriculture of Ohio State university, will be carried on by air this year, A. H. Smith, Marion county farm agent, announced yesterday. Since it was not advisable to have the gathering on the campus because rationing has limited travel, programs will be broadcast over WOSU, the university radio station.

Tentative plans have been made to rebroadcast parts of the sessions which start Jan. 31 through WMRN, Mr. Smith said the schedule for rebroadcasting the week of programs would be announced later. Broadcasts will be supplemented by printed material which will be distributed by the local extension offices.

A program recently inaugurated on WMRN is the "Farm and Home Information Hour" broadcast every Monday at 12:30 p. m. Mr. Smith and Miss Louise Cook, home demonstration agent, alternate in giving farm news and helpful information to rural residents in the Marion area.
